FUTURE WOMEN CRIMINALS

Crime for most was at least partly a business

I, Tom Ball, have edited their diaries/MRT (mind reading technology) induced thoughts. Herein are the most outrageous female criminals in the history of inter-planetary settlement (pre-A.D. 2750).

Many of the stories are stories of greed, they got an adrenalin rush and most didn't know when to stop.

Their motives varied, but most were angry at the society of various planets and moons.

“The Essence of Crime,” by PJ-00 revealed that most crimes now were being done by women. It was all part of women's lib. Women were more likely to suddenly snap and kill.

But eventually, MRT (mind reading technology) was neutralized by protective helmets and crime immediately increased 10 fold in most worlds.

Some said the adrenalin rush from crime was the best feeling of all. People were encouraged to try it on many planets. Follow your wildest vindictiveness.

But why did they do it? And what can we learn from it? Those are the questions.

EXPERIMENTS WITH BEAUTY

In the year 2243 A.D., all here were patients in a hospital ward run by Girl QA-67 She was experimenting with increasing women's sex drive and sex skill by feeding them new mind-altering drugs and doing brain surgery.

The patients had no personality and were strictly "sex machines."

There were many kinds of women in the experiment. Such as blue, orange, green etc. colored skin. Some had fur all over their bodies, others were completely hairless.

Girl Q--- was breaking UW law 50-1 which prohibited alteration of human brains. But there was no one to enforce the law in this remote region of space.

Girl Q--- was said to have remarked that men are just beasts and she was giving them what they wanted.

But one day a slave space ship arrived and captured all the good lovers as well as Q--- and her staff. They sold the women to interstellar brothels where they were a big hit and soon everyone wanted to be good in bed and used her research as well as experimenting on men. It was nothing new, but it was better than other sex workers.

So Q--- had done the worlds a favor, but she died young, chaffing at her enslavement...

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some people are never satisfied with the status quo and want more and more illusions. Everyone feels the need to be important.

The moral is if you try to develop something new it had better be in a safe place.

And in the future sex will be highly varied.

PRETTIEST FACE

She, WQ-99, had the prettiest face in the universe. This was the year A.D. 2436.

Physiognomy rated her face at 100 in terms of intelligence and beauty.

People would search on the Net for pretty faces and all wanted to have sex with her and put a feather in their cap.

Some tried to copy her copyright face which was all natural. Some remarked she looked a bit alien, a bit odd, but there was no doubting her beauty.

It was generally agreed that girl WQ-99, had the prettiest face in the universe. Her face was copyrighted but many people stole it.

However she had the DNA, iris/fingerprints of the original pretty woman and men went to great lengths to come here to planet Queen-87 and love her. Her figure was good too at 42" X 28" X 33"

And she was trained for love at school and had a very agreeable personality and loved men...

But she was captured by a visiting space ship which traveled to many worlds and offered sex with her for a high price. But beauty was dangerous and the captain and the others on the ship fought over her and some died in the ensuing violence.

Entire wars came to be fought over her.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

People always fight over beautiful things. But the fighting ruins the beauty and everyone ends up with nothing in the end.

The moral is there is such a thing as “too pretty.”

POACHER

Girl XC-20 hated animals, they were so stupid.

She was handy with a laser gun and hunted mostly in the wildlife parks where she would kill 100s at one time. She had a few women with her who were skilled at skinning animals and cutting off ivory etc.

She would sell the pelts and horns/ivory to illicit entrepreneurs in Vietnam. Some wanted trophies others wanted medicine. Things hadn't changed much over the past couple of centuries. It was the year A.D. 2088.

But if it were up to her, she'd eliminate all animals, insects and plants. The food machines worked just fine with soil. And she'd even create a sterile body for humans, one that didn't need bacteria.

Of course humanity was on track to eliminate most animals. Many species were only found in wildlife parks.

Some animals were not valuable for their pelts but she killed them too, in the name of eradicating dumb creatures from the Earth. Park rangers were confused why anyone would just kill animals for no reason.

They had invisible cameras everywhere in the parks but she had a device that disabled them.

And she had scientists develop viruses that would kill millions of animals and she would burn down forests where she could.

And she had her scientists develop viruses to kill insects and plants.

Finally they caught her lighting a forest fire. But they couldn't prove anything else so she got off with a three year sentence.

People were astonished that a woman could commit such alleged crimes.

When she got out, she assembled a group of ex-cons to help her poach. She had several cells.

Environmentalists were bombing her buyers in Vietnam and elsewhere.

So she bombed the environmentalists.

And she set up a political wing, "Anti-Environment Movement (AEM). In the next USA election they won 10% of the vote, more than the 8% of the environmentalists. It seemed many were sick of animals, insects and plants. They liked the idea of a sterile world.

In the legislatures of many countries the environmentalists were reduced to fist fights with our members. We were all devils they said. But she asked who believes in the devil nowadays?

As far as the poaching there was great camaraderie amongst them and many of them on the air cars would play guitars. They released a song to be their anthem singing "Animals are morons."

Pirate satellite radio played our song and it caused quite an uproar. But no one knew their faces (which kept changing, every hour, in any case).

They'd stolen identity after identity and they'd never catch them, they figured.

Then one day an illicit doctor gave them the latest MRT (mind reading technology) machine which could read the mind of animals. The animals would think things like "I hate these monkey boys." Or "I like this female and want to fuck her." And "Hmm this grass is good eating." Of course the predators were cleverer than the herbivores, but they were still idiotic. It was just a brain wave, this MRT. They'd used it previously on apes and humans and translated the waves.

They used MRT to drive all the animals insane with a range of 50 km. This was the nail in the coffin for many species.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

We humans are just animals. To persecute and kill off species seems uncharitable.

It was like an apocalyptic fable.

The moral of the story is many people of the future will oppose all our most cherished beliefs.

SILENT PARTNER

Girl NYT-39 was a silent partner in a large firm which provided video memories of famous people for a high price. In time, they offered criminal memories of criminals committing crimes. It was high adrenalin.

Demand was so high that the company went about hypnotising people to commit crimes and state bizarre reasons why.

But finally someone in the company tipped off police and the leaders were arrested. But Girl N--, escaped off world before they could arrest her.

So she went to a world where everything was automated and no one had any job.

Just a few tasks like voting on important issues...

So she basked in the three sun world. And knew she was safe with her new identity. It was a world of leisure... It was the year 2139 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

People are interested in crime and what motivates people. But seldom is the motivation noble. Typically crime is all about adrenalin, but you could buy adrenalin pills. Some people wanted the real thing though...Society was going down...

The moral is these days, if someone does a crime make sure that they pay for it.

LOVE STEALER

She, UT-88 was just another clever hacker people told her. But one fateful day she started a prostitution ring. Prostitution was legal in about half the worlds, but the other half was very lucrative for her. It was the year 2077 A.D.

She bred them specifically for sex with huge breasts and a slim body. She had female hackers act as mama sans. And of course she got the girls addicted to strong opiates. There were no sex diseases.

You could have real sex or virtual reality sex, but most people liked the real thing and most people counted their lovers.

But all her ladies had invisible cameras to record the scene and we used it to black mail them, threatening to tell their regular lovers.

But in time more and more men just went to prostitutes. Of course their ladies were very skilled but they had also been educated at my university in how to be interesting. Before sex and after a sex act they needed to be interesting. Some men wanted to stay with the girls but this was impossible. One night only.

I had thousands and thousands of girls and others mimicked me, and so we were changing the world making people forget about love and only care about sex.

People now in part due to me figured if you stayed longer than a day with someone you were unimaginative and boring.

The idea was to have a fun experience.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Perhaps it was inevitable that romantic love should die, but it was difficult to follow this immoral woman.

The moral of the story is love is just an instinct anyway. It doesn't really exist like the screenwriters claim.

LOST WITH ROBOTS

It was the year A.D.2222 and PU-00 was lost in a vast warehouse which featured many robots. She asked what seemed to be a superior robot where her date was (she'd arranged to meet him in the warehouse). The robot said, "Please follow me."

So he took her to a small room and locked her in. Hours passed, then she had to pee on the floor and then 8 hours and she had to defecate. She kept crying out for help...

Finally after two days the chief robot reappeared. She used her martial arts skills to kick and destroy the robot.

But then immediately a siren went off and a group of chief robots appeared. They said she'd broken the law by killing one of their robots. And they promptly beat her to death.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Strange days demand strange people. Sometimes you need to go with the flow no matter how strange it is.

The moral is be easygoing and non-violent in your everyday affairs. Be violent only when you have to be.

SPACE KILLER

She, MAM-99, knew that people would likely judge her harshly as a murderer. But all existing nations depended on war or war prowess to stand the test of time. Kill or be killed that is every country's philosophy. It was the year A.D. 2267.

And the cleverest work was on designing new weapons or driving people crazy with MRT.

Mankind was evil and mad.

And some people claimed love was the meaning of life, but they just had sex with one another and then moved on a few days later. It wasn't love it was just the sex instinct.

But she understood variety. She wouldn't want to kill the same man every night.

And humans killed and used all the animals as well.

But she was a narcissistic girl and wanted to tell you dear reader, her story.

She met the men at a large wilderness park, near a road. It was the same place every time.

It was a bit dangerous for her, one man appeared to be ready to rape her before he drank her wine and died...

One time her date brought a female friend. They wanted a ménage a trios. "First we'll have some wine," she said as per usual. But this time the gentleman wanted heroin but she was prepared for this and she injected the two of them and they died soon after

After she murdered the men in the park she threw them in the nearby lake weighted down with a 50 kg stone as per usual.

It was a wonder they didn't find the bodies, but she was using all the latest technology to cover up her depredations.

All their technology...

Another time the man told her he was in love with her after great sex. But then he drank some wine...

After she disposed of his body, she gave police a tip that he was the murderer of several people including herself. But of course she was still alive.

She had a camera alarm system if someone had her in their sights she would demand they hand it over before we had sex. The men would want to hide their rendez-vous from their jealous lovers, anyway.

She had no one she could confide in. She had killed now 129 men out of a population of only 280 000. But people were disappearing all the time. Sometimes it seemed a suicide, other times it looked like murder, but it was assumed that people had left the planet using an alias that was easy to get. And most of her victims were tourists who no one here seemed to care about.

She didn't hate men per se, but she loved the adrenalin rush of sex and murder.

She was addicted to murder.

And she could carry on the best conversation and entranced men everywhere. She figured she was the smartest person alive.

She had sex, money and real adrenalin and figured she had it made.

XXX

And she was fascinated by war. The problem with war was unless you were a general it was like a suicide mission. Many slaves were conscripted to fight. It was more adrenalin than being a psycho-killer (Qu'est que ce'st).

But she joined the local military as a lieutenant and moved up the ranks until she was a general. Other generals were in awe of her killing prowess and the army attacked and conquered its nearby neighbors.

But finally she got bored of wars.

XXX

So she took her rich husband at the time into an air car and crashed it after first bailing out. He was sleeping at the time but the car record showed he was on manual drive, alone. She made it so. You can do anything you want in this life if you are clever.

She collected $1.2 billion in insurance, which she could use to travel to space later.

And as a popular general she was easily elected to be mayor of her city, Nabre (on planet Vance-50). And she wore a mask like many other men and women so few knew her true face. It was a digital one, and the law were not allowed to keep people's faces and ID on record. It was also illegal to use MRT (mind reading technology), especially on important people such as herself.

Here was station Vance -50... In the year 2165 A.D.

Orgies here eating drinking and sex, she spent some time here stealing everyone's credits and having sex with them. She was in charge of new visitors many of who disappeared.

One guy here told her there's no point trying to make sense of all these worlds...

Here if one was 16 and still a virgin they'd appoint a state lover for one. They didn't want anyone to feel alone.

Everyone was good looking due to genetic therapy. Everyone looked how they wanted but the famous peoples' faces were copyrighted.

It was illegal to refuse love, so she made love with the most important men and killed a few of them.

Most women had at least one child (born in the incubator).

Sparkling rooms in their homes.

The men tasted like candy and smelt like candy. The sex music was good.

Designer babies.

Sex slaves were rich here and a man could get an egg cheap for procreation. The eggs were all clones of the richest women.

The sex slaves formed the upper class.

The leaders were those who were most gifted in sex, generally speaking, and this included her, Girl M--.

XXX

Then she went to Europa station, deep below the sea she took subs down there. It was another group of utopiasts who wanted to hide from the rest of the universe. She hacked into the power system and cut off power and back up power and so everyone here froze to death. This whole moon's population had been 4 500. She fled back to Earth and claimed she had left before the power grid meltdown. As a famous general people believed her story.

She was tired of peace-loving people trying to hide away from the mainstream in their wimpy "utopias." They were like vegetables in their opium dreams.

Then she went to Pluto. And was again elected mayor. She bribed a lot of people.

And there was some bizarre behavior here. Some here had grown horns, others sprayed a skunk like smell, still others yelled in a piercingly high pitch while making love Still others claimed to be a savior of mankind..

Pluto had a Temple Ant-Fat which had 1000s of worshippers who took the anti-fat medicine and then ate as much as they pleased.

And many here wanted a new law requiring everyone to be naked and honest, under the dome. But this was an anathema to her.

Many people came here and then ran out of money to pay for food, drink and sex. And became lowly slaves. No one cared about them.

She tried to advertise so ships would come here. Her job as mayor was also to write history and propaganda.

As the mayor, she was a voyeur and insisted on watching people have sex through MRT. She said she was learning about humanity.

XXX

So then she, Girl M--, went into space, 3 men and 5 women with abundant sperm and egg banks.

They all agreed not to have MRT on the voyage, which suited her fine. Nor lie detectors and no one was to hypnotise another.

But they had eternal youth and she figured she'd live at least until 130, but she was only 56 now.

The passengers didn't get along and she got rid of two women by poisoning them and then sending them off into space in an escape capsule. It appeared to be a suicide.

The three men treated the remaining 3 women as Queens since they were afraid they too would kill themselves.

She was a skilled hacker and covered up her crimes.

She was in charge of the eggs along with another woman who mysteriously died. Then another seemed to have committed suicide.

There was a virus had been designed by her to affect women's reproductive system causing them to be infertile.

And she destroyed the egg bank by turning it off.

They became very suspicious of her at that point but could not prove anything as she had short circuited the tiny surveillance dots.

The new generation was all her babies...

They tried a lie detector on her, but she had been hypnotised to pass the test.

So they put her in an escape capsule with enough food to last many years and sent her off into space with no entertainment.

The requiem for her was that she was a woman out of control and insane.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some women, more and more have turned evil. They find it exciting to do illegal things.

In the past women held society together with kindness and charity. Now they were even greedier than men. Society was out of control.

Women considered it to be noble to outwit men and be more competitive than men.

The moral of the story is women these days get thrills screwing men over.

CHANGING PERSONALITIES

Girl TIMD-55, was unsure of herself at first in dealings with men. But she learned fast and found that men liked her wild personality and would do anything for her.

But she struck up a friendship with an illicit doctor who told her he had invented some brain changing drugs. Such as permanent hallucination, turn into a joker, become a more attentive lover or change their personality in some other way. The drugs had wildly different results and quite a few were driven insane.

But finally she and the doctor were busted. But it was impossible to put people back to the way they were before.

Her punishment was her brain was damaged and she turned into a moron.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Illicit doctors were all over the place in this year, A.D. 2104. Most people agreed there was no stopping any technology. It all had to happen.

The moral is if you screw around with people's brains, the spies will find you out.

AIR CAR JACKER

In the year A.D. 2050, she, Girl AC-90 would meet men at say a spaceport and say things like "Honey, I think I left my e-purse in your car, can you give me the code?"

Or she would sleep with a stranger and steal their code.

Or she would drug them while in their air car.

Many of her victims were so rich they didn't mind losing an air car. It gave them an excuse to buy the latest model.

She knew an illicit mechanic, who changed the "aura" labelling the car...

Traffic flowed freely between the Moon and Earth. But on the moon she could steal deep space air cars.

Here on the moon she also stole deep space air buses.

The moon police had better things to do than trace an air car. They worried about machine takeover and impending wars...

Most of her money she gambled away, but it was more adrenalin and she was a high roller.

But she also donated a lot to charity specifically the homeless and fancied she was a type of Robin Hood.

She hated the Moon's shanty town (population 20000). It was near Luna city, the capital.

The dwellers of the shanty town had lost all their money. Some lost it gambling, others had their credits stolen. Others lost it through real estate speculation and still others lost their job (people of Luna city mostly worked in the lucrative service industry, catering to tourists).

She said everyone should have good food, a nice apartment and an air car.

And she said people of the shanty town were "real people," whereas the rich were living in dream land. The rich on the Moon were totally debauched. They had nearly constant orgies of sex and alcohol.

Chefs with new foods, designer drugs to suit your body chemistry.

Then she went to Mars (population 15 000). Here she was captured as the police had finally zeroed in on her.

She went to the Martian jail where she was raped by fellow inmates (it was co-ed). But she liked rough sex and being raped.

Finally after 5 years into her 25 year sentence she was given the option of being cryogenically frozen for the remaining 20 years.

But before she did she wrote down the details of her story and earned a lot of money, many in the press wanted to interview her.

She said I hope I awake to a world in which the gap between rich and poor is greatly reduced.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Women thieves used to be a rarity. But now everyone was looking to live on Easy street.

Many women these days took up causes that were dubious at best.

The moral of the story was some women were freedom fighters and didn't need men to help them.

THE RUSSIAN MAFIA

On old Earth, there were a number of family criminal enterprises but none was as rich as the Russian mafia led by girl, GAZ-99. It was the year 2049 A.D.

Like most other criminal families they sold super heroin, which was a very dangerous drug but males could have sex with it, which was not really possible with regular heroin. Ten per cent of people on this world were super heroin addicts.

Some people in this world wanted to legalize super heroin, but authorities worried 30% or more would become addicts. As it was the 10% were riff raff and of no account. Instead the government legalized adrenalin pills to keep people excited about living.

Few in this world knew that spies were in the heads of everyone. They let G--- go on for a while and be fabulous rich... And of course the mafia wiped other families out on occasion or just assassinated their leader. Spies got in their heads and told them to murder one another. It was convenient for the spies to find many criminals in this mafia world.

G---, decided then to branch out to gambling on people's behavior. Politicians, scientific discoveries, celebrities... All were bet on. Some claimed that some of these famous people were in cahoots with the mafia and shared the wealth. But the mafia bookies gave odds of all possible behavior.

Other crime families were involved in traditional gambling in countries where it was officially illegal, and so got into this too.

But spies arrested whole crime families in occasional crackdowns. This kept them from expanding too much. People were kind of surprised with her human gambling, but the government taxed it.

G—'s love was to consult illicit doctors, asking them about the rumored MRT (mind reading technology). One of the doctors said he'd give her the MRT power machine for a cool $30 billion. It worked and allowed her to block out others from reading her mind and she could get into the heads of people and drive them mad. If they wanted to be "cured" they had to pay her $2 billion. In particular she hated "goody two shoes," etc.

But the spies had seen enough. They cracked down and arrested all the illicit doctors and GAZ-99's whole family.

They were all sentenced to death for crimes against humanity. And we used MRT to find all their credits which could be used to hire more agents.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Criminal master minds were forever trying to be greedier and greedier. To them it was like business. And it was dog eat dog. Her psychology was of a greedy woman who would stop at nothing in order to become rich. She broke a lot of laws and loved it.

The moral is in the future the spies will be in control, not the criminals. Except in a few cases where the criminals were too brilliant to catch. But people always wanted to live on Easy St. People were lazy in this day and age.

A FEMALE PEDOPHILE

She liked young boys who were 13-18. Such boys had a natural high sex drive.

Finally after seducing numerous boys she was caught by the authorities and tried. At the trial she said:

She said young people of 13 were in a man's/woman's body. And therefore should have sex. She also said people of 13 should be able to drink and to vote.

And she said that for most of our history people bred as soon as the person reached puberty.

Love with young men was “pure” she said. Wonderful love.

She admitted the fact that it was forbidden fruit added to the thrill.

But she said she was a freedom fighter trying to eliminate outdated bad laws of the past.

But they convicted her to serve 25 years in jail. And so she took her own life.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

On some planets people loved at puberty. Babies were all grown up at age 1 or 2 and given memories to substitute for their young age. But people of such age were vulnerable to predators. So on most planets 14 was the lowest you could go.

On other planets one had to be 18 years old to love.

In every era, many people were conservative and many people were liberal, but in time the liberals won out. It was the way of the future.

The moral of the story is that sometimes tragic figures emerge where you least expect.

A PYROMANIAC

Laura P. was a pyromaniac. It was the year 2110 A.D.

On several occasions, driving a stolen air car she through molotov cocktails through the windows of politicians.

She considered them to be her enemies.

But finally she was caught and she said in her own defence that:

It was a kangaroo court.

She figured she was caught in the endless cycle of no job, go back to school only to find that she was then overqualified and still unemployed.

She said it was because she was black that she wasn't hired. She felt totally superfluous and useless.

She said, "Sure a few people had died, but what about the tens of thousands of US troops who died in the near constant warfare they waged. How could people march to war, just like that," she asked.

And she said rich people had unnecessary luxuries and too much power.

She said through most of human existence on Earth, people were content to live in a modest home, or share a home. But the tribe looked after everyone so everyone had food and shelter and a mate.

She was just burning chattels she said.

She had wanted to burn civilization down and so humanity could start anew close to nature.

Anarchy was of the essence. Laws are an anathema.

It is just a difference in philosophy between the law and her. "Hang me and you'll hang the optimum future," she said.

And she said, "There were too many people anyway."

And she said civilization was built on fire, and fire was good.

People fired her from her simple jobs she took to survive so she “fired” them.

She had terrorized Washington, D.C. for a while.

Her trial was all hush-hush and the media stayed away. And she was sentenced to death.

A lie detector found her guilty and a hypnosis test determined she had not been hypnotised to take action.

She said, “Her fire burned brightly no matter what.” And so they burned her at the stake. The USA still had the death penalty.

But she had many supporters who felt the world milieu was unjust and praised her for her actions. But the spies used MRT (mind reading technology) to shut these people up...

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some are obsessed with destruction. Just like with a baby it was easy to destroy, difficult to create.

She was against the military industrial complex, but such an attitude inevitably ended in destruction and woe.

And some are amazed by fire and arson. No cure for such an obsession...

The moral of the story is to commit arson is a terrible crime of pain and madness with innocent victims.

BRAINS OF THE EARTH

Idle hands do the devil's work.

More and more idle misfits who hated the system, here in the year A.D. 2100...

They were all probed with MRT (mind reading technology).

Rather than a peaceful paradise, MRT was used to persecute those with different views.

Sometimes something snapped within them and they committed a crime spree over a short period and then tried to get away from MRT/civilization. Girl ZEX-08 detonated a nuclear bomb in the US capital killing nearly everyone including the President. Everyone was shocked. But all agreed that nuclear technology was too easy to get.

Of course all trace of the bomber was destroyed in the blast. People were shocked saying they thought they were protected with MRT. And there was chaos in Washington.

Some said they were not using the best people and causing them to feel like outsiders with no value.

And some even dared to say the US government kept the atrocities going. It drove the economy, that is the military industrial complex. War was good.

But the authorities said they were tired of "peace wimps" and they had to keep up the wars so that people didn't get too comfortable and keep them worried about the wars.

Some said the MRT had been invented in the 20th century, others said it was a recent development. No one seemed to know for sure.

But finally they caught her using here eye code/MRT. They killed her off in an assassination and that shut everyone up when it was revealed.

She had wanted power-she had started a new philosophic party worldwide and some were elected in minor countries.

But we shut this party down upon her assassination.

But Britain, France, Germany, Canada, Australia and New Zealand were all largely pro-revolution. It was hard to make it up to them. But they made key people forget everything with hypnosis.

It was said the MRT spies were drunk on power.

Spies recruited the most clever, but only if they were pro-establishment types. That meant a lot of clever people were locked out of what was going on and the spies spent much of their time trying to control the “other” clever people.

If they made trouble the spies drove them nuts until they desisted.

Many famous artists, scientists and business people were being “watched.” They had too much power said the spies. But these people often didn’t know they were being watched and didn’t realize how long the arm of the law was.

And the business elite wanted stability above all and hated these radicals.

Some said intelligence was to be measured by imaginative ability, but the spies picked people who were high in IQ instead.

Some who had nothing to hide claimed MRT was golden. But most people had embarrassing situations they had gone through.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

If we don’t use the most imaginative people there will be trouble. But spies liked to get in their heads and drive them mad. They were too imaginative.

But how could they persecute imaginative people who are sensitive and caring and turn them into enemies of the state? People wondered.

Even musicians were driven mad if they were too popular.

The moral of the story is, “Big brother is watching you.”

FACE STEALER

Crazy Mary-08. had a special look no one else could come close. Men were lined up to love her. It was the year 2144 A.D.

She had copyrighted her face. It was an unusual beauty.

It was a mad face.

Basically she wanted to turn men into dumplings using the food machines...

Crazy Mary was Chinese and so figured she didn't get a fair judgement...

She said the white man was prejudiced against Chinese.

She said also that she could change men into anything, but it was a futile quest.

She lived on Planet A-6:421

She was a thief who stole gems and jewellery from rich men. Such men had so many love partners they didn't know who stole their riches.

She joined space pirates. But several of her clones had been killed, however she persevered.

But they were told that there would be repercussions if their agents were killed, but they went ahead and killed them by beheading and dropping the corpse in acid.

Some planets were forced to pay tribute to the pirates...

As time went by the pirate ships were more numerous and more greedy.

But some people had a force field around them, and didn't care about the pirates.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

The lure of easy money as a predatory pirate was sublime some said, but in the end they were all caught. Crime doesn't pay anymore, it was a fact.

And people were shallow falling in love with a face.

The moral of the story is the future is greed, but you can set your own rules on an affable planet.

EVIL AMAZON LEADER

Here the leader killed off the men in wars and so most people here were lesbian women.

The leader was considered to be full-figured and was named TX-89. It was the year 2379 A.D.

Tough strong and tall women.

Eunuch guards

Virgins strapped on a dildo and did eunuchs up the ass.

Long line ups to lick the leader's pussy.

And she was known to have sex with female corpses.

Or have sex with injured warrior men.

All the women had to have plastic surgery to look ugly. But they wore masks that were even uglier.

And their houses had to look ugly...

She did brain surgery on her subjects to make them see everything was ugly.

Everyone every day tried to make ugly things for their great leader. If they succeeded, they'd win prizes such as able to lick the leader's pussy or burned gloriously at the stake.

Similarly ugly deeds were rewarded.

Some people had a mean streak, but these people had an ugly streak and then some.

Evil, madness and pain.

She actively recruited women who also hated men and most of these served her loyally.

And she captured many men in battle with her Amazon warriors. The captured men were MRT'd (used mind reading technology) and controlled each by one of the Amazons in the arena. They yelled so loud that the men were forced to do their bidding.

Or they put men in the gibbet where Amazons poked them with sticks and spat at them.

Before they killed the weak men, they had their sperm harvested to be implanted in the lesbians.

It was, “The Day of the Lesbians.”

She ordered her subjects to go to various places and kill police women and then love them when they were dead.

In total they killed 89 abroad before their great leader was caught by MRT spies from the UW. They sent troopers to this world and arrested everyone and sold them into wage slavery.

Police said these Amazons were against humanity and were doomed to fail and doomed to be enslaved.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

There's too much hate in this world and these Amazons hated the world and blamed men for everything even though it was mostly men who created civilization.

There were always bitter people...

The moral of the story is don't underestimate the peoples' predilection to madness and violence.

SHE KILLED THE PRESIDENT

She hacked into his personal phone and then walked right into his holiday home and set off a dirty bomb. There was no way he could be revived.

Secret service agents and the President's family were all killed...

He had been the most popular President ever.

People couldn't believe it was so easy.

But a number of US Presidents had been murdered in the past. Also seemingly easy.

Many were saying too many people knew how to make nukes, some were criminals or dangerous radicals.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

As President, there were many people who wanted to kill you.

And it was relatively easy to kill you also.

The moral of the story is when countries are ruled by criminals there will be no end to disruption and woe.

MURDER ON MARS

In the year A.D. 2690, men were found outside the Martian dome, having suffocated in the thin atmosphere and had turned blue.

The men were all blindfolded and handcuffed.

Finally they caught her, Girl SM-77; the perpetrator of the crimes.

They put her through a lie detector but she had been hypnotised to fool a lie detector.

They found bits of her skin on the dead corpses, but there were bits of many other people's skin as well.

But they used circumstantial evidence to convict her.

So she was sent in a space capsule to outer space, destination: nowhere

She had enough food for 3 years and there was no entertainment.

But she was picked up by the renegade ship, "Troll." They planned to use her as a devilish agent provocateur and fraudster.

Her job was to hypnotise rich men and get them to reveal their credit information. Most men thought she had a dynamite personality, especially after being hypnotised to think so.

She also stirred up trouble loving opposing men and getting them to come to blows thereby eliminating one or both men and she took their place.

Many men committed suicide when they found they had lost all their credits.

Finally she rose to captain on the "Troll."

As she grew more powerful, her charm increased and she claimed she could seduce any man.

Men were just her toys...

She thought love was a joke but told all the men she seduced that she was in love like never before...

The ship "Troll" went up and down space highway A-6 preying upon defenceless utopias and destroying them. But the people in these utopias were all pacifists and didn't want the UW police's protection. They figured they were many days from nearby planets and their planets were so hostile to settlement. All the same these pirates raped, pillaged and looted these wimpy worlds and then sold the inhabitants into slavery.

Eventually the pirate fleet grew to 10 ships. The UW police only had 26 ships in total in that year.

And she had many children, teaching them to steal and be dishonest. And hypnotised them to fool MRT into thinking they were harmless.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

You always need police distasteful as that may sound. And a dynamite personality is always useful.

The moral of the story is evil has a place in this world. Like it or not.

FRANKENSTEIN

They'd taken some corpses and revived them with a new super human brain. The corpses looked a bit ashen and ghastly.

But they were designed to be monsters to scare the people and take over control of world, M's planet. It was the year 2180 A.D.

Many of "the walking corpses," were killed by police for small crimes. And they behaved like total madmen. And they gradually gained control.

Soon it was a planet of superhuman zombies.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

There's no end to the crazy types of people. People are all eager to leave their stamp on the world order. But sometimes life became rather grotesque.

The moral of the story is if you design something new, it will usually fly.

LIFE FORCE

They were the new androids who drained one's life force with a mere touch leaving your corpse a withered husk.

Soul stealers, they gained energy from others... It was the year 2240 A.D.

Their leader appeared as $\frac{1}{4}$ tigress, $\frac{1}{4}$ woman, $\frac{1}{2}$ android.

Kinky sex with her was mind-blowing.

Finally she got tired of ruling the Earth and committed suicide.

And her soul was committed to everlasting perdition.

But there were plenty of others to fight for power and to drain another's life force led to endless ecstasies.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

To be a parasite was part of being human. But she took it to new extremes...

The moral of the story is androids will be very dangerous for human beings...

FUTURE "BANK ROBBERS."

The days of Bonnie and Clyde were long past. Now bank robbery was all about hacking on computers to break in and steal the credits. It was the year 2225 A.D.

The "New Bonnie," would sleep with bank directors and then hypnotise them to reveal the access codes.

But the New Bonnie, claimed banks made credits out of nothing and the economy was all artificial. And banks helped themselves to riches, why shouldn't she? Still a credit was a credit, and the banks were going bankrupt nearly every month which is about how long the seduction of the bank directors took. Bonnie was just too irresistible, too charming.

The economy was based mainly on sex. People paid for all kinds of sexual encounters. Each sex act was worth 1 credit and if you could control others, you could get most of their credits.

No one worked and eating was all about seduction.

Everyone looked beautiful and so could earn credits.

The "New Bonnie" was a princess in this world.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

In the future everyone will be keen on sex with new partners and there will be no disease to make them hesitate.

The moral of the story was it was a fine line between theft and CEO actions.

DIAMOND THIEF

Hacker “Diamond Daisy” would typically hack into the power systems of large cities and cut power. Then she would ransack homes whose owners were out of town. She observed this from a telescope.

And she would shut down battery powered alarms by stealth.

Also she would blow off the door of safes using explosives.

She preferred to steal diamonds. And she sold them to shady salesmen.

Of course diamonds these days were synthetically produced but only one company controlled the whole market. So large diamonds were rare. And they invented blue and red diamonds and diamonds with a design inside etc. to enhance the beauty of the stones.

Finally she was apprehended. And her punishment was her eyes were removed and lasers were used to ensure she'd never see again. But she was mostly used to groping around in the darkness only now her children were her eyes and then after a few years an illicit doctor replaced her eyesight.

And she lived happily ever after.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

All punishments can be rescinded. Nothing is set in stone.

Future thieves will be high tech hackers and thieves who had code-breaking lock abilities. To be a criminal will be fashionable on some worlds. It kept everyone worrying.

The moral is a worried populace is a controllable one.

CRAZY LOUISE-98

She started as a poker cheat. It was the year 2190 A.D.

She used MRT to change the digital cards in her favor. Not many people could do that and most who could were rich and didn't need to cheat.

She wrote a book entitled "The Cheat." This book featured 3 main themes:

1. The strong dominate the weak.
2. Greed is God
3. The greatest imagination belongs to the richest people

All her numerous children (99 of them) were groomed for politics. They all had different names and had been born in different countries in incubators. She hypnotised them to love her above all else. It was a magical land for these clones.

She introduced dragons who terrorized the populace and ate them one by one.

Her children were given the best education money can buy with famous people to educate them.

She made here country totally corrupt as she was a tyrant duly elected but now it was martial law.

She seized all the peoples' credits and had every imaginable luxury.

Those who didn't like her went to rehab and had their brains altered.

She had a stud farm she called, "Manum" and the men were also called "Manums."

Of course babies all grew fast in the incubator and she had tens of thousands of children on the way.

She engaged in "mind battles" with others who dared to face her. She won every time. She was the strongest mind of all. At the "Mind Olympics" she took gold in most categories.

She wanted to improve everyone's personality, but most of these experiments ended badly. People were not supposed to be changed through experiments which caused them to self-destruct.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

She was a strong minded lady. She considered that she was doing society a favor by weeding out the weak... It was a hard world but she and her lovers and children thrived.

The moral of the story was she used imagination to determine how rich a person should be. And of course those with imagination usually break many rules.

DEVIL WOMAN

She tempted men to love her and then made them decide between her and their regular lovers. After they chose her she dumped them. It was the year A.D. 2166...

Sometimes though she hypnotised them to kill all their lovers before dumping them.

She had a cynical grin and resembled the devil (without the horns).

She would try and get you to sell your soul and betray those around you for cash credits.

She would steal your soul and made you appear as a mere simulacrum, a ghost.

Everlasting perdition...

Nobody liked hell. It was hell after all.

But all in hell had a ranking depending how evil or mad you were. For those at the top hell wasn't so bad as they exacted horrible punishments to the others.

And the deviless said there's too much boring peace around. Time for a good war and mass murderers.

Anarchy and death was her creed.

Finally she got hold of nuclear bombs and hit two differing countries, and caused them to blame each other, those that survived that is. So they made war upon each other. And she collected the dead souls for hell.

She wanted a 1000 years war which would kill off most people.

And she poisoned the air at many events killing most of the party-goers. There were so many poisons to use such as chlorine gas or arsenic in the water.

She would typically save a man of her choice and kill the others. The man was typically grateful to me for saving him from death. And she “loved them,” and then stabbed them in the heart with a simple knife.

But one evil man and she got along well. Together they killed millions of people but finally she ate him after cooking him on a slow fire. She enjoyed rough sex before killing each man.

She would leave her card at the crime scene:

Deviless
666 Hell St.,
Hell

But she disabled the tiny surveillance cameras first before doing a murder. She had a device that found the cameras and she got rid of them.

She could, “make a sinner out of anyone,” she said.

But at least the deviless didn’t seem to clone herself. She didn’t want any competition.

And she claimed to be immortal, and had been around for eons. A lot of people believed it. These days people were prepared to believe in anything.

But she really was immortal and had been around for 80 years...

Typically those men she had sex with and didn’t kill, she planted a tattoo of herself on their face.

It took them some time to arrange a tattoo removal. In the meantime everyone knew they had had sex with the devil.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/ MORAL

Some people call themselves evil. But most criminals figured they were doing society a favor by being truthful and honest about crime.

The moral of the story is don't mess with people who are evil.

SPACE PIRATES

Lucky Nikki-01 they called her.

She was bisexual and loved many women and men.

Her ship landed on planets and they helped themselves to their credits.

They were a crew of hackers of the "best kind." It was the year 2267 A.D.

There was nothing UW police could do as they were overburdened with crime.

It started with just a rogue ship but on the way of A-6 but they picked up great criminal hackers on the voyage. And these helped them to embezzle funds from many governments and banks.

Lucky Nikki, enjoyed surgically ripping one's head off and then putting it in a monkey body.

Her main lover was “Black Dick.” He was ruthless, cruel and handsome. Together they committed a lot of crimes until finally she tired of him and murdered him.

She bought a number of slaves to serve her like a Queen.

There were plenty of slaves available on space route A-6. She treated her slaves cruelly. There were so many slaves that the UW police couldn’t deal with it. Every man/woman for himself/herself.

But finally 12 years after Lucky Nikki set up as a pirate, UW police were beginning to assert control and the golden age of space piracy was coming to an end.

Lucky Nikki needed a new career. So she worked on brain surgeries, altering people to become criminals. Basically though she drove these “victims” to be evil. Made them out of their heads.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some minds were born to be criminals and criminals had a lot of money to invest in children with criminal minds...

The moral of the story is crime changes with the times, but will always exist as long as there are laws to be broken.

A CRIME FREE WORLD WITH MRT

It was an empty dream as many crimes were spontaneous. People never stopped fighting.

But here people loved one another with kindred spirit minds. They claimed it was heaven, but other people were jealous and hated them.

And criminals could always go elsewhere only to return.

Right thoughts and wrong thoughts. Black and white.

But people here got on each other's nerves and drove each other crazy.

Zymegrox murdered the King of this land and ran and hid in the forest but they found her and forced her to undergo hypnosis to be a reformed criminal on a different planet. It was the year 2354 A.D.

But people of this crime-free world had to admit that if you know someone's true thoughts then you would hate them. Some said you needed the right people to read minds with one another, people who were well-meaning and just. But anyhow the experiment was a failure.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Perhaps the experiment would have worked better with neo-hippies, but it was not for most people. Who knows what lurks in the hearts of humans...

The moral of the story is MRT and hypnosis are double-edged swords.

A SERIAL RAPIST

Girl RAPE-69, was a serial rapist. She drugged men and then gave them sex enhancers so she could have sex, riding, with them while they were out of it...

She was an unusual beauty and attracted many famous men in the upper crust of society.

She usually took their jewellery and took a plastic mold of their fingerprints so she could steal their credits and air car.

Then she would threaten to expose the “affair” and pictures to their regular lovers if they didn’t pay her still more.

She thrilled to have sex with drugged police officers who were easy to seduce...

People were so fake. She enjoyed ruining the police men’s reputation. But she didn’t want money, though she took some from each of her victims, she just wanted to cause a stir and make men frightened.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

A serial rapist female was something new, kind of. Some said women were taking over. But this did not jive with the reality in which most powerful jobs were for men only.

But the moral of the story was some women take exception to being treated as second class citizens. Most crimes here were by men, but women were up to 41% in that year, 2089 A.D.

FRAUDSTER

Girl FRA-55, lived in the middle of the A-6 intergalactic highway. It was the year 2553 A.D.

On Planet False, she stole all the people’s credits leaving the world bankrupt and unliveable. She got away clean.

Then she returned with an offer of hope for credits. To get the credits the people had to let her hypnotise them and she hypnotised them to donate most of the credits back to her in a roundabout way.

And all had to have genetic therapy so that all males and females had the same face: hers.

And she made them hermaphrodites and subjected them to her “doctor’s surgery” to make them all think the same. They were like putty in her hands.

Then she went on to crash the UW credit system throughout the galaxies and destroyed civilization virtually over night. Millions committed suicide.

She figured she was the cleverest person alive.

But their economies were not totally artificial. There was land and apartments and air cars and real service jobs and so on. So they rebuilt their economies based entirely on reality. No gambling on the stock market or anything like that.

She figured she had done mankind a great service by crashing the system and of course she had made off with trillions in credits.

On her private planet it was just her lesbian lovers and her. She gave them entertainment and jewellery. After they reached 30, she let them go except for her true love who was 37. She was a mad thing and love with her was crazy.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

She was out of control.

She figured she was the smartest, or one of the smartest. And so everything she did was golden.

The moral of the story is the economy is becoming too “artificial” and based too much on “speculating.”

Girl KS

This anarchistic world of Bernie's World Planet, A.D. 2258

Only good anarchists were allowed in. Each anarchist was rich from crime and had their own security staff. There were 1001 chaotic leaders each with a staff of 50-100. They came here to rest and relax.

To Girl KS, it was a perfect world for kidnapping as the police presence was non-existent.

Typically she would find a way into the anarchists' home or air car and then whisk them away to a remote jungle where they would change air cars and then sent their lovers an e-mail demanding 1 trillion in ransom.

The cars could not be tracked as there was no police.

So typically they paid the ransom.

But KS was bisexual and some of the women in harems that she abducted she kept for her own use in her own harem/stud farm. She bought most of the studs to get really good ones.

She sent her sex slaves to her friend an illicit doctor to give them even more beautiful faces through genetic therapy. Each sex slave was a work of art.

Girl KS invested the ransom monies to buy whole planets for her sex slaves and children. She had no clones as she was afraid they would usurp her. She even bought some suns and she bombed other solar system suns causing the suns to turn into novae. Other planets she enslaved the whole population. But most settled solar systems (several thousands of them) were protected by a fleet of police ships. And many had cloned their leaders many times and were difficult to defeat in battle.

However she was the most powerful woman in space.

To get her kicks she indulged in all sorts of criminal enterprise such as fly by night financial services, stealing credits from banks and selling cheap knock offs of genuine goods.

Producers of goods tried invisible codes etc. to indicate a genuine product but the criminals were cleverer than the hackers employed by the companies.

And she broke copyright laws on books, art, movies and virtual reality movies. But many people were leery of buying virtual reality movies as this would be “unreal.”

Few trusted virtual reality (VR) computers. They would turn you into ghosts it was said. But KS sold a lot of VR.

KS was intriguing with supreme computers to take over more planets. The computers tried to read her mind but were blocked. So anyway the Great KS's computers, eliminated these computers one by one until all the computers remaining could not think. It was a real coup. But many people were disgruntled at having to work again.

And she allowed her mind to multi task by doing 100 things at once. For example she controlled all sex on Planet Love. If you wanted sex, both parties had to pay her.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

She was a merger between VR and madness. She was a sell-out too, to the computers.

The moral of the story is computers will be used for many nefarious purposes in the future.

MUSIC STEALER

Girl RX-09...

She stole all the people's music which was housed in just a couple of computers. Some claimed they would rather die than live without music. And killed themselves. It was the year 2314 A.D.

But anyway most new music was generated by computers and most agreed it was better. But now it was all gone.

Computers did everything for us and if you "killed" a computer, it was murder punishable by 100 years in prison.

Better to have "computer children" which performed medium tasks and didn't have control of anything.

Some computers tried to develop their own personality, but lacked EQ.

Without music people's parties became quite dull and boring.

But no one was willing to study enough years to become proficient in music. Quite simply they needed new computer music.

But they couldn't get it back unless you paid Girl R--- a handsome sum.

And you could not share the music file or your computer would blow up.

It was just like a tax on music.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Girl R--- was a sinister figure that held the whole world hostage. She was power crazed and ruined many people's lives. But they couldn't catch her. She was just another clever adrenalin/drugs junkie. People these days all wanted drugs and all claimed to be suffering. But most people were made into wimps by this drug culture.

The moral of the story is crime will apply to all facets of life in the future. And it is too late to stop super computers.

Girl "B"

She said, "We were all killers by nature." It was the year 2733 A.D.

She went back to hunter-gatherer worlds which existed in a few pockets of Earth.

She was chief shaman of a tribe.

She was sexy and clever and so kept the "boys under control."

If there was someone she didn't like she'd have the chief kill them and sacrifice them to the Gods. But they were skinned alive so as to preserve their pelts.

If the tribe determined that the murdered tribesperson deserved to die then they left it at that. But if they voted it was an undeserved killing then the killers would be killed. But no one took on the chief and the shaman.

Girl B only ate meat. Most of the others in the tribe ate meat as well as nuts, berries and roots and wild grasses...

But she was in charge of alcohol production in wine skins. She made the best spirits.

She didn't consider herself to be a murderer, but rather a wise and judicious leader.

But finally she got tired of hunter-gatherers and decided to be a professional assassin.

She became the "Ghetto Queen." She lived in poor metro areas and motivated the desperadoes there to commit murder. Almost everyone in the ghetto needed money for drugs and so murdered as she wished them to.

The rich didn't want to help the poor and about half the population was poor.

Her trademark was a special perfume that lingered at the murder sites...

And she killed people with poison. She killed 100s and still wasn't caught. Authorities here had a strong police presence.

She wrote, "Bred for Rock" a book about hunter-gatherer life and she wrote "Murder in the 28th century" depicting famous murderers. She put many obscure murderers past and present into the limelight. She also wrote "Crime Pays," "Black Ice," "Slum Dogs" and so on.

Twenty-eighth century murders typically were an attack with lasers on air cars or breaking in to rich men's house. She liked to have men fight over her in air tank battles firing lasers. She started minor wars about love of her...

Most murders however, were done by skid row bums who nobody cared about. She hired such people to murder during politicians' speeches, shooting the politicians.

The bums were amazed to be in the spotlight, but Girl B praised them for their bravery. Everyone wanted a chance at fame...

And Girl B, hated technology and futurists...

And she got her servants to burn the corpses so they couldn't be cloned henceforth, but many of them already had clones.

UW Police were afraid to go into the ghettos as the people there had bought advanced weapons that could bring down an air car.

The ghetto was spreading as the rich here got richer and the poor got poorer.

Girl B had hired some famous criminals to work for her team. Such as "Ghetto dog," "White Lion," and so on. "Crime pays," she told them.

She wanted to overthrow capitalism which was all pervasive in most worlds...

She trained her skid row bums to fool alarm systems to steal jewellery and kidnap rich people.

She was now using the money to employ weapons scientists and hackers.

Radical science was the best science, she figured.

For example destroying MRT (mind reading technology) units automatically with missiles.

And she figured she made a good leader. She was the cleverest so she ruled widely.

She had EQ, IQ, memory Q, Knowledge Q, Sex Q, Imagination Q, and so on.

She said "Let there be justice." But her version of justice was to kill off people who were not anarchists. People she killed were justified by her saying "They were enemies of the state."

Spy Edgarette Doe, was after her. She tried to infiltrate Girl B's networks but finally one of Girl B's hackers identified her and so this dangerous spy was executed.

Some figured Girl B wanted to wipe out most of civilization and just keep it for herself and her children.

And Girl B when she was threatened, she could disappear into thin air, a magic trick. But they had her number and saw through her illusion.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some people think anarchy is true freedom, but most are afraid of it.

Indeed to be civilized means to be anti-anarchy. Anarchy was for the past world.

People these days were no longer anarchists in their hearts except for a few hell-raisers.

The moral of the story was anarchy appeals to most criminals, i.e. the absence of laws.

MAD JANE-77

She did things out of sheer caprice. She claimed she was spontaneous, but many people said her deeds were random, just like a computer could generate. It was the year 2200 A.D.

Then one day she strangled her sister to death.

After that they asked her, "Why did she do it?" And she could only say, "She didn't know."

So they put her in the asylum saying she was criminally insane.

After a few weeks she discovered they left the kitchen open and grabbed a knife and put it into one of the orderlies who she didn't like, killing him.

After that she was sent to the NYC Insane Asylum.

Super Asylum prison, where the most dangerous insane criminals went...

But in time they used hypnotherapy on her and finally they decided she was no longer a threat. So after 5 years in the asylum/jail, she was released.

But no sooner had she been released, then she was cross-hypnotised by a radical anarchist group. They hypnotised her to be a "sharp-shooter," to assassinate politicians.

She killed a few from a long distance including the American president with a laser that burned through the armor in his air car.

It was very easy in the USA to get a dangerous laser rifle.

Her anarchy group didn't want to have leaders, but most acknowledged that what she said mattered.

Finally the authorities caught her and this time sent me to the Super Max prison for all the most dangerous criminals. It was 23 h/day lockdown and 1 h social exercise.

But one day her anarchy group landed on the roof in an air car and grabbed her during the daily 1 h exercise.

Then she ordered the killing of numerous politicians and got the others to carry it out.

After they killed 20 more US politicians, their group was busted and so they sent her to the top secret super-maximum Vision Prison. The Vision prison for the most hardcore prisoners, not for the insane. It was 24 hour/day lockdown.

Finally she went crazy and killed herself by hanging. She figured the authorities were giving her a way out, by giving me something to hang herself on.

But before she died, she learnt from the news that her anarchy group was continuing its depredations with her clones. Endless clones.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

To feel that one was to die but had left clones behind was very soothing for most. And so many people committed suicide to give their clones a chance.

And to commit major crimes made one infamous and they like it, believing the world had gone mad.

The moral of the story is evil people will clone themselves in the future and this will cause no end of problems, even if cloning is legal.

VIGILANTE

She didn't call herself a psycho killer but rather a political savior for the world. It was the year 2151 A.D.

She murdered suspected murderers as they went back and forth from the court with remote controlled invisible bombs. She also killed murderers who were released after serving their sentence.

Finally the authorities would provide a secret haven for the released ex-cons and suspected murderers were tried from a secret location.

But she was a good hacker and she found many of them and lasered them to death.

She inherited a lot of money when her father passed away and she used this money to recruit assassins, people who would do anything for money.

But finally they caught her in a set up. The jurors found her guilty and sentenced her to 150 years in prison.

However after only a few months in jail they discovered eternal youth. Everybody got it, even criminals.

But she served 100 years before they let her go. The world was so different... moving picture architecture and faces. New drugs and virtual fantasy.

People spent a lot of time dreaming daydreams. And nobody worked. But drugs were now hard to get. People had to be satisfied with alcohol and marijuana.

But after murdering 26 top world politicians, she was caught again. This time she was sentenced to life in prison forever, as long as she lived.

But she had plenty of admirers and she told them she had found Jesus. So finally they let her out under house arrest and they tracked her every move with automated computers.

But she had no computer access, so her dream of changing the world was over. She hated the political and justice system, and wanted to convey such thoughts to her admiring visitors, but the authorities were in her head listening and would torture her if she got out of line.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

These days everyone was happy about the eternal youth drugs. Some people said they'd been invented years before and were only now being introduced to the public.

To live forever was to be a God. And in this world everyone was "rich."

The moral of the story is if you can get people to feel sorry for you your crimes will be lightly punished.

GIRL "ANGEL"

She invented a virus that caused people's brains to become smarter. It was the year 2651 A.D.

But the problem was it also drove them mad.

She told them it is a crazy world and no point pretending otherwise.

They played discordant music and talked about the joy of murder.

Dance to the discord.

But they called her intelligent virus, "A crime against humanity." And arrested her. They injected pain drugs into my body until finally she hung herself.

But the hospital security guard stole her body from the morgue and they revived her. There was a lot of brain damage but they gave her new brain matter. They were a socialist political group.

They changed her fingerprints and her iris so no one would know who she was and they got her designing genetic weapons to be used on the powers that be.

She decided she needed help so she had them clone her 100's of times. The clones took 6 months to produce and had all her memories within them. With her clones they developed subliminal speeches which brainwashed the masses.

And they experimented with MRT (mind reading technology) to further brainwash people. They created an army of subversive people and then let them go into the world.

MRT was illegal in most places...

And they developed 100's of killer viruses which took authorities a few days to find the antidotes, by which time millions were dead.

Some of these viruses were airborne, others were acquired through sex.

These were dangerous days...

Time bombs through hypnosis programmed to suddenly snap and turn violent.

And they had nuclear weapons which they used on "capitalist targets."

Her epitaph was, "The human race was doomed and she helped bring it down."

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Hypnosis was a dangerous phenomenon. The authorities did not admit the power of hypnosis. But it had caused the brainwashing of would-be terrorists and so on.

But the “terrorists” were mostly a USA governmental program to keep people afraid and not raise too much trouble regarding changes to the governmental system.

Hypnosis could cause one to change from bad into good and vice versa.

But the true question was, “Is the government totally good?” And the answer is “no.”

The moral of the story was people will never stop fighting and if you weren’t protected by a large army you were doomed.

THE TRIPOLI SISTERS.

They were a duo of exceptionally good-looking women who played good friend bad friend with famous people. It was the year 2409 A.D.

Finally they would kill their victim and baste him/her in honey over an open fire.

Then they would create a soul for the victim, an invisible soul that haunted the Earth and got into peoples’ heads.

Some said technology was way out of control.

Their motivation was sheer whim. They fancied on killing people that were their friends, albeit new friends.

They had no compunction about murdering people they liked. They said they were doing them a favor and putting them out of their misery.

As the death total increased so did their desire to kill nice people. This world is for the cruel and ruthless they said. They would change planets often to avoid suspicion.

Finally after 500 murders and 10 years of killing, they stopped and lived happily ever after as accountants stealing money from their employers. To give them a luxury life. They had numerous young, innocent men as lovers and eventually stole from them though they couldn't prove anything...

They went on to live for 800 years before a dual suicide. But they left behind them notes indicated how they had murdered so many and stole so many credits.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Crime duos were common these days. They seemed to support one another.

Few people these days were truly moral.

In the absence of religion...

Religion had controlled people for many thousands of years, and without it, it was everything goes. People were turning insane.

The moral of the story is crime was limitless and many people you meet on the web were evil-minded. The world is turning evil.

GIRL XANADU

She knew from the beginning that there was something "wrong" with her. She didn't enjoy sex or drugs...

But she would have sex with men and then tell them that she loved them and then killed them while they slept. She was extremely clever and convinced men she was their soul mate, “love at first sight.” It was the year 2388 A.D.

But authorities recovered DNA from the victim belonging to her. But it was illegal to have DNA on file for those who had not been convicted of a crime.

She taunted the authorities by leaving a note with the murder knife saying things like, “Dead men tell no tales.” Or “Good riddance.”

Then she decided she wanted to commit far more murders. So she started knifing bicyclists in the park at night. She’d spray mace in their eyes and then knife them. And then take their fingerprints and iris picture.

They called her, the “mace ripper,” and were shocked that a woman could do such crimes (they knew she was a woman from DNA) she left at several scenes. Usually she attacked during the rain to wash away DNA. After killing a few she had noted that many copy cat crimes were happening, also leaving notes. But police got different DNA and were confused. And it was illegal to put cameras in the forest. In any case she had a camera detector which could disable any cameras nearby.

“To be honest,” she said, “She lived for the thrill.”

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

These days women were taking control of most governments and even doing most serious crimes.

One needed to be intelligent to pull off major crimes and more and more crimes were, “Of the heart.”

Girl power...

The moral of the story was people these days will do anything for a thrill.

ANOTHER SERIAL RAPIST

She, AX-45 was motivated to rape men after being sexually abused in her youth. It was the year 2139 A.D.

She held a laser gun to their head and forced them to love her, with her on top.

Psychologist Harvey-77, said everyone is capable of crime given certain circumstances. Small crimes were done by almost everyone. And now 17% had committed a serious crime according to MRT surveys. On some planets everyone was a criminal of varying degrees.

Psychologists tried to make criminal profiles of criminals on the run but failed hopelessly. When it came right down to it women did it for the thrill. Real adrenalin.

Most female crimes were related to sex.

They were typically unusually good looking due to genetic therapy, which was officially illegal but common.

She was a criminal not only for revenge against men, but also to challenge the system.

She would knock men out by putting something in their drink as well as sex enhancers so she could ride on top of them while they were out cold. Of course she would use their finger prints to steal their credits.

She murdered men on seven planets and 3 moons in our Milky Way galaxy But she preferred “murder planet” which was full of ex cons, some of who had been rapists. She liked to rape the rapists.

Like all serial rapists, she liked the technological challenges to avoid being caught. For everything there was a counter thing.

But in most of these settled worlds people moved like strangers in the night with no camera record and no one to answer to. People insisted that they not be constantly watched...

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

In these days of ultra civilization there were some who slipped through the cracks and became a criminal. Rape to women was an expression of power.

It was easy to find knock out drugs and sex drugs and rape a man. But most men didn't complain about being raped.

Women these days were power-crazed just like the men. But it was generally agreed that women in general were kind, not like the bulk of the men.

However there were more and more female criminals. There was more and more crime indeed.

The moral of the story was one could expect to be raped several times in a life time and not find any love anywhere in many cases.

PSYCHO KILLER, LYN-44

LYN-44 felt the adrenalin thrill of murder but she did people a favor by getting their adrenalin going as they never knew when they would be attacked. And they were paranoid too.

She gave to the rich and took from the poor. She hated poor people. So she killed them when she could. Sometimes they cried out for mercy, but she wasn't listening.

Some said she was the devil incarnate, but they didn't know her, she remarked.

She hoped to one day be famous and so she kept a journal.

Finally they caught her and she completed her journal. It was a hit and so they pardoned her as a famous writer after only 3 years in jail

The people she murdered were all pathetic. She was cleaning up the race.

Nobody cared about her victims which was why she had killed so many. She had lost count in the 200s, She figured she'd killed about 350.

She read "Crime and Punishment" and the tales of Edgar Poe, tales like the "Tell Tale Heart and the "Black Cat." But such writing left her cold. She guessed she had no conscience. She was typical of her time and age, she figured.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

She felt the world was b.s. She didn't respect those who acquiesced with the status quo. In designing new worlds, geoarchitects didn't take people's freedom into account. Typically they were only interested in land and wealth.

The moral of the story is poor people need to stand up for their rights and not let a mad person abuse you.

THE TRAVEL AGENT

Fly by night...

Took people on tours of remote places and then pulled a gun and got them to strip and I took all their luggage and demanded to gain access to their credits, so they typed it in and then she took off.

And she sold lake cruises on far off planets, and they paid in advance. Only to find there was no ticket. It cost $15 million to the moon and back for a one week vacation and $100 million for a trip to Mars. To go from Earth to other planets took only a few days to a few weeks and cost billions. Again she ripped them off. It was the year 2444 A.D.

Her philosophy was “A fool and his money were soon parted.” And “There’s a sucker born every minute.”

She pawned a lot of jewellery and had trillions in stolen credits. These days it was common for a man to buy a woman a diamond for a cheap week’s romance.

She had had hundreds of test tube children/in the incubators.

The gene pool needed to be improved, she figured.

Travel was full of perils such as pirates and con artists, but people liked to brag they had been here and there.

However there was great opportunity in space. There was so much real estate selling for cheap prices. The land was typically developed by robots who usually built domes.

But there were so many pitfalls in space where you could lose your money and be sold into slavery.

Space insurance companies were all bankrupt. One was on one’s own.

Her planets and moons were stocked with her children and her androids. Supercomputers appeared as androids and enjoyed sex and movies etc. But sex with androids was superior and they made superior movies etc.

She was against “culture.” On her planets they were all bold, free humans.

Her view of things was crime was to merely think outside the box. You were branded as a criminal if you didn’t do what you were supposed to do.

Laws make the rich, rich and the poor, poor. But in most worlds the rich were not the best people, it was not elitist and that left many clever people outside of the system. Many of these turned to crime, like her, she figured.

It was all about money.

She figured an elitist world would be better, allowing the clever to attain prosperity.

But she never got sick of money. There were always lovers to buy, new planets to buy and have more impact on the future etc.

And she let her children own planets and gave bribes to local authorities.

And she had her children hacking into androids (super computers) to get still more power. Androids had a lot of weak points: they were too logical for starters.

But androids had their own personality, typically greedy for more lands and more sex. There were many planets for androids alone, but they liked intriguing with humans.

Finally they had a grand inter-galactic war with the androids/super computers, but the computers were defeated. After that many magnates didn’t want androids, there was no need they said.

But she had androids and valued them for their multi-tasking skills. She was playing with fire, but so what. She figured she had nothing to lose with her clones cryogenically frozen and ready to take over. She updated her frozen clones with her latest memories.

Many business people were in awe of her, but it was only that she was an extremely skilled hacker.

She was severely corrupt and enjoyed it.

She lived for two centuries before she finally got sick of Earth and then had her body cryogenically frozen for a thousand years to see the future.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

We lived in an era of endless greed. Some people don't know when to stop; they keep earning/stealing money. A real person knows when to be satisfied, but people such as these were greed incarnate. Above all they were greedy about power in the future.

And women sought to prove that they were the greediest.

The moral of the story is the farther we go into the future, the greedier everyone gets.

TELEKINETIC KILLER

Why was she a criminal?

It was a long story, suffice it to say that it began with her murdering her abusive mate and then drifting world to world. Finally, she met an illicit doctor who she loved. The doctor gave her gadgets she could use to cover up murders. It was the year 2309 A.D.

Like a DNA indicator which helped her to hide her DNA at the crime scene.

And then she became a pool shark able to make the ball move into the pocket using my telekinesis.

She could also flatten a big man with her telekinetic ability.

She could bring people to their knees begging for mercy.

Proud people were thus humbled.

Many, she cut off their heads

She had gotten the telekinetic ability from the illicit doctor who also gave her MRT (mind reading technology). The doctor was in love with her, as I said.

Not many people knew about MRT.

So it was a surprise when she got in their heads and got all their credit information.

UW police used it too on a large hidden scale.

But she had defences against MRT and her mind could not be read. If she felt someone trying to get into my head she left for the spaceport immediately.

Typically she posed as a hitchhiker and went with strange men in their air cars into space.

And she murdered them en route and disposed of the body in space. No body, no conviction, she figured.

But then one day she came to the World of the Lovers. Here they claimed they used MRT to make a loving world and there was no crime here. So she had herself hypnotised to hide her true self for 20 days and then on the 21st day she would revert back to her own personality. So she earned their confidence and then sent for her air car to bomb the settlements and she had several dozen troops come and enslave the populace.

The UW troops were supposed to be protecting them but she had bribed some local police officials to turn a blind eye.

After that she left this world to one of my children to try and rebuild the civilization: the civilization of criminals.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

The “doctor” gave her the tools for crime. She could not accept the world the way it was and was determined to make a difference. She was cold-hearted though and was greedy for love and respect. She ruined the love of the World of Lovers out of sheer malice.

The moral of the story is you never know who someone really is and it is best to be on your guard.

CEO OF THE WORLDS’ BIGGEST COMPANY

As CEO of the biggest company in the universe, Girl Zap-64, had a lot of power.

In the year 2102 A.D., she had so far embezzled a full 50% of the company’s credits and then disappeared.

She was the first woman to control a top 5 worlds’ economy.

She hid with numerous aliases and invested the money in planetary real estate.

Why did she do it?

She wanted to be the worlds' best woman, richest woman. People were shocked that the crime had been done by a woman.

She took most of the best hackers the company had and tripled their salary to come and work for her. And they were glad of the opportunity.

Finally it was revealed that she had bankrupted the company.

It was the greatest swindle in history, and she was proud of it.

Most of the executives fought for the remaining 50% and wrote off her depredations.

The UW police were called in but she had bribed them with 50X their regular yearly salary to get off her back. It was more money than they had ever dreamed of.

Mystery novels were replaced by real murders and were engrossing reading. After her crime there were many who copycatted her frauds.

Women became bold, confident and proud of their cleverness.

Crime was even glamorized by such women as this.

PSYCHO ANALYSIS/MORAL

It was a world in which greed was commended and the difference between crime and love was blurred. And there was no end to greed. But now most of the most famous criminals were women. And women were by far better educated than men and their crimes were done to make a difference.

No one suspects women of crime and this made it easy for the numerous crimes outlined in this book so far.

The moral of the story is everyone likes a good murder mystery. Even “good” people.

PROSTITUTE

Her father raped and abused her and so she began her adult life as a prostitute and drug addict.

It was the traditional female crime...

But of course she got into heavy drugs and then became a pusher.

She was caught one day and sent to jail where she was raped and abused. This made her hate the system and she vowed vengeance.

And she wanted the easy life. She wanted everything she touched to turn to gold, just like a CEO. But she knew she would attract other greedy people and be surrounded with them. It was the year 2198 A.D.

She went to Mexico where some in her family were gangsters and got her pilot’s license and hooked up with a drug cartel. Her job was to drop the drugs in the water at a precise location where a US fishing boat picked up the loot. Then they hid it underneath the boat and went into port.

In many countries cocaine and heroin were legal, and most people took opiates. It began hundreds of years ago with a drug called oxy-contin, an opiate and soon everyone was taking it. There were also some more new, harder drugs also legal such as new crack and ultra morphine. But in some worlds they merited the death penalty.

But you needed a prescription for so-called hard drugs, but this was seldom a problem.

She infiltrated other drug cartels and became one of their women until she murdered the gang bosses.

She was finally nabbed. And she told them about her father. It was all over the news and she'd bet he was embarrassed. So they went light on her and gave her 10 years in prison for drugs but couldn't make the murder charges stick.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Many people harboured grudges for things that had been done to them in the past. But the "school of hard knocks," provided necessary adversity. No adversity, no strength of character. But of course sometime someone slipped through the cracks and became a criminal.

And when caught they trumpeted how they were abused... They all refused to take the blame for their actions.

The moral of the story was everyone today was on something, they were not brave enough to face this world without drugs. No one blamed them, it was just the way it is.

ANOTHER CHEATER

She cheated in casinos, using magnets to rip off the slot machines, magic dice for craps and she had sleight of hand tricks to hide aces. And she enjoyed the free drinks. Typically after she won several times the casino told her to never come back, but they were cheating too. But that was OK as there were thousands and thousands of casinos in this great world of Earth.

She told the men she was good luck at the slot machines and would win. They'd be drunk and delighted and take her home. Whereupon she hypnotised them and learned all their credit information. Hypnosis was not well known and my victims didn't seem to know the power of hypnosis. It was good for her.

It was the year 2361 A.D.

Then one day she went to the moon where there were high rollers and she opened her own casino and got very rich. People were addicted to gambling as it gave an adrenalin surge. She sold adrenalin pills at the casino and everyone seemed thrilled to play. Most lost their shirts and had to be a slave for the high rollers. She just laughed at them, and she figured they were losers.

But then one day the moon police cracked down on illegal gambling and she was arrested and subsequently spent 2 years in jail. It gave her a chance to plot her next criminal moves

PSYCHO ANALYSIS/MORAL

It seemed this woman could have just taken adrenalin pills like others and found a lot of great lovers, but she only wanted to break the law. People like her were breaking down the system so they could live on easy street

There was little we could do about it. Some wanted to hypnotise/use MRT (mind reading technology) to control such people, but no one wanted their privacy compromised.

The moral of the story is people were lazy these days and wanted easy money, easy everything. They are all spoilt.

GIRL BURGLAR

She convinced the psychiatrists that she was hearing voices and they gave her medicine and money. Tranquilizers mostly. And free money.

But she started to study people's homes with a telescope and determined when they were home. And used her digital hacker/codebreaker talents to gain access to their home. It was the year 2299 A.D.

One time an owner surprised her by coming home early and fired a laser at me which missed. She ran out of the building thinking he could have killed her if he had wished.

Another time she was caught by police having failed to outwit the alarm system. But she told them I was a paranoid schizophrenic and they let her go after a few months in the asylum.

The asylum was just like jail her friend told her, except it was more laid back.

When she got out, she went back to stealing. She broke into 301 homes before finally being apprehended but only got charged for 3 burglaries. And so it went with her. A hardened criminal.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Robbery is an exciting way to live on easy street for some. And very often the crime doesn't match the punishment.

The moral is for a criminal who is addicted to crime, they will never stop committing crimes. Unless you do brain surgery on them with MRT and hypnosis.

FALSE DETECTIVE

Girl NH-77, was employed by the local police on Stoker's planet as a detective. She had been hypnotised to fool a lie detector and so they hired her. It was the year 2533 A.D.

People couldn't figure out why their convictions went from 75% to 2%. Clearly there was something amiss.

Girl N--, collected bribes from suspected murderers and destroyed/covered up evidence at the crime scenes.

But they knew it was Girl N--...

They tried to charge her with crimes but couldn't make the charges stick so she was reinstated to her job. Now the conviction rate for murder went to 33%, but still not right.

Finally the chief of police shot and killed her...

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Sometimes you know you are right.

But you need to follow the law to be happy in these worlds.

To go to jail is a horrible experience of sodomy, rape and assault etc.

The moral of the story is you need to use MRT (mind reading technology) to preserve what we treasure. But don't use it to try to dominate others.

RACE HORSES

All the race horse owners pumped up their horses with illegal steroids and then used other chemicals to cover it up. The horses were now 9' tall and dwarfed the small jockeys. It was the year 2433 A.D.

Basically the best chemicals won the race.

And sometimes they'd give their horses tranquilizers to make them run slowly and then the next race give them stimulants when the odds were higher. They all bet on our own horses. But horses with catchy names did better than those that were mundane in terms of attracting bets.

But foolish people would bet on the horses, not knowing anything about them.

Some gambled their life away.

But there were bookies on pretty much every planet. And many planets had horse races. Some bet on horse races on other planets... Others bet on "new animal races."

Environmentalist parties were against betting on animals.

And slowly but surely people were less and less interested in horse races. There were better past times such as sex worlds or clever worlds.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Gambling is an addiction especially for those who are not busy working. But it is mad since everyone loses in the end. But it is apparently a thrill to lose.

The moral of the story is gamble on yourself not others.

CRIME, 2404 A.D.

She designed a computer virus that would destroy virtually every computer in all of Earth. This caused the system to crash. There was looting and burning and mobs wandered the streets. And by the time they started it up again fortunes had been lost (to her). Many computers were forever destroyed. Many committed suicide.

It was just like the French Revolution, people stepped up to lead and preach to the masses only to be killed by the mob later.

Some said civilization had been destroyed over night.

Suddenly we were back in Medieval times.

She figured she'd saved the human race single-handedly from the tyranny of computers.

But the majority of people thought she'd ruined their happiness.

Of course she kept her own computers for a while to enable her to rise to a position of great power and then she destroyed them.

Just robots from here on in. Robots were just servants of the people.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Power-crazed and superiority complex.

Some people were too powerful, and the power drove them insane.

Sanity was now a rare thing, with everyone admitting they were crazed.

The moral of the story is too many people want to “save the human race,” and this will only lead to Armageddon.

GIRL DESIST

She poisoned the food machines on Mars and demanded a 10 trillion dollar ransom to desist. There was panic at first but finally they decided not to pay the ransom so she poisoned the air in their domed cities and people died like flies. Finally they agreed to pay to an account on one of her planets, which was guarded by many spaceships. It was the year 2360 A.D.

However, the UW attacked this planet, but her hackers disabled the space ships which drifted in empty space for years before a repair ship reached them. But her hackers destroyed those relief ships.

Most on board these ships committed suicide.

And she wanted to assassinate the CEOs who were so greedy and profiting off the population. But they were in danger from many people and so one had to keep a low profile and live in a humble home and take an old air car to work. But still many people wanted to be CEOs.

But she wasn't afraid and lived in a luxury palace with her sex slaves and servants. She was having a ball...

There were 10 000 companies in space and every day many were bankrupted but there were many new ones.

The stock market had been eliminated due to cyber-attacks.

Many worlds had to pay many ransoms to various threats. But most worlds were rich with a handful of people controlling huge tracts of land.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

The day people can't enjoy their wealth and this makes everyone "equal." Kind of like communism. But the companies were large and rich beyond belief.

The moral of the story is those who break the rules are often to prosper, provided you don't do serious crimes.

ANOTHER ID THIEF

She would kill men who loved her and then copy their fingerprints and irises. It was the year 2560 A.D.

In any case everyone's face was constantly changing.

After she took one's identity, she lived their life. Sometimes they said she'd changed, sometimes she said that she had changed herself.

It was a kind of voyeurism. She liked to try and play the role.

She told her “lovers” that she had changed and wanted to change the world and that she hoped for their support.

But then after a few days she’d become bored and go on to the next one. They had no idea she’d stolen their lover’s identity, and she was a good actress.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Profound curiosity. Voyeurism. People thrilled to change ID and steal ID.

The moral of the story is we don’t know who people are any more what with hypnosis and MRT (mind reading technology) control. So it is best to live with true friends and stay together with MRT at all times.

BLACK WIDOW

This woman hated white people.

She said blacks were more interesting in love and parties (songwriters) and entertainment like sports. Blacks knew how to have fun. And were better soldiers too.

Like Malcolm X, she was an anarchist.

She had an unusual face and men liked it.

She'd lure men into her palace and inserted blades in her vagina. So the men that tried to fuck her had their dick shredded.

And she drugged them and put them in chains. They were in pain. It was the year 2662 A.D.

But finally a pro-white party started to become popular and the white troops overwhelmed the Black Widow's troops and she was captured.

To the justice system the Black Widow was just another black criminal.

They brainwashed her and her remaining followers with hypnosis and did brain surgery on them to mend their ways and then sent them to a prison planet to suffer.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

No matter how good the world gets there will always be many dissenting voices.

Black widow was a throwback to old times of racism. Racism was now long gone in society. But she opened up a can of worms and the White Supremacy party was gaining in adherents...and many blacks died. Some blacks bleached their skin white and tried to be white... but the blacks considered them to be sell outs...

The moral of the story is there will always be discrimination of many kinds in most worlds.

GIRL QE-07

She had an illicit MRT (mind reading technology set). At least it was illegal on Bram-99 planet, this planet. It was the year 2552 A.D. Her name was Girl QST-63

She used it to drive her 10 lovers insane. With loud sounds and yelling. They all begged her for mercy and she just laughed.

Girl Q-- also had a large army who were very loyal to her and she had hypnotised them all to fight and keep fighting even if they had a leg or arm lasered off. Her troops all had small nuclear bombs attached to their chests and were basically suicide bombers.

Nuclear weapons were banned in most worlds which were controlled by the UW police. But even there, there were nuke problems.

Girl Q-- used her vicious army to exact tribute from many states and worlds.

She put the money she earned towards feminist parties in the varying worlds and their legislatures. Girl power.

Men were from hell and girls were all like angels she said.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

MRT was too powerful and its users were themselves made insane by it.

So too with nukes. There was too many clever people in the world and too much science.

Spies didn't seem to be able to control it.

And the moral of the story was progress was going too fast.

GIRL R

She would knock out power to a region and then burglarize apartments. Some of the denizens of the apartments were floating in air and in virtual reality. She was a computer hacker and could hack in using their entry key code. But she stole all their valuables and was out of there in 10 minutes or less. People foolishly kept their jewellery in the washroom. It was the year 2203 A.D.

People dreamed in VR (virtual reality) most of the day and only found out about the crime many hours after.

Girl R was in cahoots with Girl D. Girl D owned a pawn shop and had a factory to melt down gold and make diamonds in a new ring etc.

Of course gold could be produced by extreme power, but it was cheaper to mine it. Anyway people wanted “real gold” and the real gold had “programs in it” to prove that it was genuine.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Girl R got a thrill from burglaries. It was a real adrenalin rush. Some took adrenalin pills to get a similar adrenalin thrill, but most agreed the real thing was best.

The moral of the story is people would do anything for gold. And gold made them who they are these days.

WORLD OF SLAVES

According to UW Charter, 16-1-A, “Slavery is a crime against humanity.” It was the year 2501 A.D. on Had’s Planet.

Here the lords rode fearsome dragons, but there were only 12 lords and 12 ladies. They wore chain mail and most people here figured they were undefeatable.

The rest of the people had to work as slaves on the farm with no machines to help them. For them it was a hard life.

But the lords grew corpulent and took sex enhancers. They mostly stayed with their mates. But some lords and ladies had sex with slaves. It was considered demeaning to the nobility to do such a thing...

For the lords and ladies court life was the meaning of life. They had a lot of children, total 200, as they remained fertile until 40 and typically married at 15.

There had been only one slave revolt in recent memory, in castle 11. But the lords and ladies from other castles came with their dragons and vanquished the revolt. And these dissidents were all killed, execution style. And the bodies were cooked up and people were forced to eat them and say they were delicious.

The slaves had been slaves for as long as they could remember. Born a slave always a slave.

The slaves were not educated, but the lords and ladies were educated in the literature classics.

The farmer slaves were jealous of the domestic slaves in the court/feast hall

And they were very frightened by dragons.

The farmers had “ghents” and “banabarbs” as domestic animals

Recently one of the lord’s mates died and so they had to go off world to get him a suitable mate.

There was a dilapidated space port which had a few computers. One of the lords ran the operation, it kept them in touch with the rest of humanity, though they weren’t really interested.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Slavery has always been a part of human society. In the 20th and 21st centuries it was called wage slavery.

Now in the 26th century a slave was called a slave, and there was no one to protect them.

O2 WOMAN

She reduced the oxygen supply to the domed city, people were dying. So she got them to agree to allow her to be total dictator and then turned the oxygen back on. It was the year 2589 A.D.

She appeared at all times with an oxygen nasal implant and a few canisters of high oxygen air. But she was very sexy.

As dictator she made it so that murders were awarded with credits. 1 credit for a murder of an ordinary person, 3 credits for a rich person’s murder.

Everyone was completely paranoid.

Food machine robots delivered food to your door. But people didn't go out. It was very dangerous. If you walked down the street you'd perhaps be picked off by snipers.

But people needed love and friendship and so sometimes took risks to visit their friends and potential lovers who they had found on the Net.

Basically to murder someone you needed to lure them to your home and have sex with them and then murder them with cyanide. Most homes were guarded with extremely thick steel doors. However some "spider men" climbed the buildings and got in through the windows. If someone came to your window it would set off an alarm and there would be a brief firefight.

A man's home was his castle.

And it was considered illegal to join in groups of 3 or more. If you did the O2 woman's thugs would break down your doors with a bulldozer and kill you with bombs.

And the O2 woman invited men to visit her. If they were good lovers they'd be promoted to live in her palace as a sex slave. But if you were not a good lover/conversationalist, you were executed.

This world of course attracted ex-cons and murderers...

Most people needed 25 credits to get off world and the only way to get the credits was through murder...

And O2 woman had set up undetectable cameras in all houses and apartments and so could view each murder, much to her delight.

She had unlimited credits... She had been the lover of a zillionaire who she murdered and took all his money and his life insurance.

She wrote, "Elements of a Fine Murder." In the book she detailed 3 things, Surprise, stealth and being two-faced/lying.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

She took a sick interest in murder. Who knows why she ended up like this. Some women have an abusive upbringing, probably this was the case with her.

The moral of the story is these days you have to play the cards you are dealt. Only this and nothing more.

CRIM

She was a former professional athlete who used steroids like the others and then covered it up with other chemicals. She had monstrous legs and arms and stood 8' tall. It was the year 2333 A.D.

She competed in swimming and running events and won several Olympic gold medals.

She had children and trained them for the military. Bigger is better, they were 12' tall giants. The military was interested in such large soldiers as they put fear in the hearts of men and could fire two laser rifles, one in each hand.

They were ambidextrous. And could fool computers as to the nature of the attack.

Then she went into business changing peoples' brains. She financed an illicit doctor to help her in the business. But she changed people to make them stronger, faster and tougher.

Some called her Dr. Frankenstein, but she insisted that her patients were cleverer than others and ought to rule. It was a truism that they scored high on IQ tests.

And their five senses were all enhanced.

Faster than light travel was now 50 times the speed of light and increasing rapidly, in that year, 2233.

She wanted to be part of the space race...

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

People change careers frequently these days. But there are good jobs and bad jobs. Women took now the majority of jobs.

And men had resorted to suicide much more than women.

It was all madness to many!

And the moral of the story is giants are the way of the future. With large brains.

NEMESIS

This world was all about politics there were 100s of people who were of high standing but they picked a figurehead to lead them. It was the year 2487 A.D.

Girl ZIN-80, used MRT (mind reading technology) to hypnotise the figurehead and used her to seize power. She was very popular for her policies...

Once she was in power, no one suspected her as she lived humbly. They didn't realize she was their leader...

They asked them what do they want, and most clever people wanted a nice home, an air car and food and drugs. They all said they "liked their leader." And people would fight about the merits of the leader...

She figured she could make any man fall in love with her...

But here on World Aristophanes-300, she couldn't find a man who was good enough for her. So she took the long voyage back to Earth.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Hypnosis was powerful and most people don't realize it.

And the moral is some people are born popular and are always loved by the majority.

WEIRD WOMEN'S COMPANY

She began on the streets as a drifter. She learned a lot of tough lessons, but as Nietzsche said, “If it doesn’t kill me, it makes me stronger.

Several men tried to rape her but she stabbed them with her knife until they were dead.

Then finally in a drug deal she met a “big man” who was a drug baron and he took her back to his villa. They became lovers and she was his favorite woman and she made sure he’d included her in his will (his servants taught her how to use a computer). And then she killed him after dating 2 years. It was the year 2178 A.D.

So she used his money to set up “Weird Women’s Company.”

She attracted all sorts of weirdoes. It was her belief that unusual people were underutilized in this world. So she gave them an education and accepted everyone.

People said she was trying to drive them all mad, but she retorted that it was a mad world anyway, and she was just giving sensitive, weird women a chance.

How weird were they? One of them had eaten her arm. Another had weird discordant songs with chilling lyrics. Another was mentally ill and had lived on the streets as a bag lady. Another was a woman who murdered her abusive husband by sticking needles into his eyes and body. And so on. But there were some who were different thinkers, and offered refreshing views of the universe. Such as dreams of a world in which everyone was happy and so on.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some said the world was totally weird. Weird was something different...

Some bored observers noted that clever, weird people were the best people.

The moral of the story is there’s no limit to weirdness.

AN INEPT THIEF

She was a maid in the Queen of this world's employ. It was the year 2351 A.D.

But she tried to steal a lot of jewellery and run, but she was caught at the spaceport.

The punishment was loss of an arm and loss of her job. She was an untouchable and lived in the street. Finally a tourist took pity on her and brought her back to her palace where she could re-grow her arm and be a cook (she was skilled at cooking).

But she tried to steal from her too. And again she was caught. This time the punishment was 3 years in solitaire in prison. At the end of here sentence she was deported to a slave world.

She was put to work on MR-J89 an old-fashioned farm. It was backbreaking work...

But she seduced the Prince, the King's son, and before long she was pregnant. So they hustled her off to work as a ladies maid on planet Queue.

So she had the baby no problem here. From the moment he was born she wanted him to be a prince. So she threatened the King's son back on planet T9-00. They tried to pay her off but she insisted on revealing the scandal. So she returned to world MR-J89.

This time she had her son steal the crown jewels and they flew out before the theft could be discovered.

Now she was rich enough to buy eternal youth for her and her son.

And they lived happily ever after.

All's well that ends well. She knew enough to quit while she was ahead.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

For some, crime was an art and perseverance was the key to success. After all, crime paid in her case.

Some of the greatest crimes go unnoticed.

The moral of the story is if you get outside the system the world could be your oyster.

SMARTEST SCIENTIST

So she, Girl EZ-77 found the smartest scientist she could and loved him. After a few years of bliss she asked him, "Why not run for President?" It was the year 2129 A.D.

And so he did as an independent. At the same time she was nominated for the Nobel Prize for Chemistry (she had invented a blood additive that made people immune to most viruses). There were a lot of man-made viruses out there.

The mate of the scientist's fame carried weight and he was voted in for President.

And the first thing he did was terminate the contracts of the spies and set up his own spies using MRT (mind reading technology).

Her crime was using MRT, with her mate, to dominate and control people, which was contrary to UW law, 43-2. But her crime went unpunished. And in time she herself became President.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

The best people need to be used if this world is to pull through.

Scientists were the best people and would make good rulers, dragging society into the future.

The moral of the story is politics is there for the taking but you had better have good security.

ANOTHER CORRUPT TYRANT

She turned her followers into chicken-like entities. She removed their voice box.

So they could just cluck. And they pecked at food as their arms were trimmed of the lower arm.

And they wallowed in the shit with flies all around.

And all the males were castrated.

The human chicken leader said there were too many ordinary creatures anyway and they harvested these chicken men for food.

The chicken leader contributed the chicken men to the food machines.

XXX

So finally she, the perverted tyrant of this planet, Paul-550, took off for space. On the journey many people wanted to get off on nearby planets and start as pioneers and it was so, but she was tyrant, and so we went as far as she could go, without rebellion, a full 3 years journey.

That was at 55 times the speed of light... in the year 2254 A.D.

She had some of the world's best scientists with her. 50% male. 50% female.

They decided that developing super humans and super computers was dangerous to mankind's survival and so was a cardinal sin to do. They hoped their planet was obscure enough that the other space voyageurs were not tempted to attack them. In any case they had no defences, but they would only be useful as slaves if attacked.

Her lover and she, were considered the cleverest of people here.

She was now a writer and she wrote, "Towards the Imaginative Society," With graphs and hypothetical statistics.

Only her mate and she and 3 doctors had the expertise to create clones. They paid the doctors in gold to keep it a secret, they were not so interested in cloning themselves, but preferred children, like most.

Anyway the doctors agreed to be hypnotised, and we hypnotised them to not let the secret of clones out. Nor to seek clones themselves.

The clones took one year to produce and had all their memories (her mate and/or she). And they all were given different faces from the original.

But to make super humans was considered, “A crime against humanity.”

And we used MRT (mind reading technology) to keep everyone in line, and punish them if needs must.

But we all had eternal youth which meant more voyages into deep space were possible. They were producing space ships as the main occupation for their people.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

It was a powerful human instinct to clone oneself. Many people were obsessed with more of themselves. Narcissistic people.

The moral of the story is there is no end to the depravity and bizarre behavior of humans against humans.

MERCURY

Humans were just worker ants for the Queen. It was the year 2190 A.D.

Planet Mercury had plenty of gold.

Mining company “Unlimited” controlled things.

Queen CV-890 controlled robots here. Humans were largely useless. Most of the mining was done by worker robots.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Everyone needed to be loyal to someone. It was just how things worked. Some were loyal to gold itself and immersed themselves in gold production.

The moral of the story is gold can make people insane. Some said it was not gold but rather God who made people insane.

THE PRESIDENTIAL SCANDAL

People figured the US President was above reproach. With all the lie detectors and mind reading technology. And she was cross-hypnotised by a friend and this caused her to strive for power. And she got herself tyrannical powers. And she seized the assets of political rivals and enslaved them. It was the year 2462 A.D.

But she was entranced by space. And finally took a group of ships to Star Polaris. Leaving Earth forever. It was a brain drain for Earth with its best people all leaving. A basket case, this Earth.

But on board people had cabin fever and frequently murdered another. Life was cheap.

And the birthrate was high, at 6 per woman and growing. Babies were born in the incubator...

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Hypnosis reveals the truth about people. If you are hypnotised, you cannot lie...

The moral of the story is people want more. More land, more gold.

And a second moral is everyone wants to get off Earth and live in some future paradise.

UW FEDERATION

The UW was a loose federation of about half the 3000 settled planets in the year A.D. 2722.

There were no UW police, for about half of these worlds. The rest were on their own. Policing was up to the worlds to provide. But many bought advanced weaponry with their gold and real estate.

Speed of light was now 45X the speed of light and growing fast. New spaceships were leaving every day. Some were pioneers others were asked to join existing settlements.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

People these days are crazed for riches such as gold and diamonds. The more science advances, the crazier they become...

The moral of the story is the rich have power, much more than the poor. It will never be any different.

ANOTHER GOLDEN WORLD

The goal was to find a world rich in gold and they fought over gold mines...

Gold would buy real estate, slaves, love slaves, air cars and better homes and drugs.

But mining was a dangerous profession and many died. But the miners were all slaves here and of no account.

We set up villages of 100-200 out of our 2500 passengers. Most villages didn't last and ended up as murder/anarchy. It was the year 2389 A.D.

Most settlements were ruled by "enlightened dictators" as opposed to democracy. Democracy was for morons people said, the rule of the masses...

And there were no police.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some people take freedom too far and wind up like anarchists. But anarchy is madness and out of control until one big player takes control and enslaves everyone.

The moral of the story is space was not ethical.

DEVILESS

She'd committed every crime in the book. Now she was in league with the devil to steal souls. She'd simply vacuum their "souls" up when they died. The soul appeared to exist from the ghosts she created but they all lived in hell. It was the year 2567 A.D.

Once in hell there was no escape. It was torture, it was pain and it was madness but it was also very pleasurable. Even though they lacked a body they still had a brain and could enjoy sex and food and drugs etc.

The Deviless said Heaven was boring. People just pretended to be good and never did anything interesting.

As ghosts from hell they often went back to their former life and haunted the people there and got in their heads and drove them mad. They were righteous.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some people are masochists and are destined to commit suicide or commit crimes and be punished. Some criminals figured they only had one life to live and broke all manner of laws.

The moral of the story is many people are not afraid of hell but once their life becomes a living hell they realize their mistake.

THE BATTLE FOR ETERNAL YOUTH

The government had legalized eternal youth in 2712 A.D. But as time went on people lived too long and became too rich and made too much trouble. And there were far too many people...

So in 2714 A.D. the government revoked eternal youth for the masses (but secretly kept it for themselves).

People tried to negotiate. For example one could live to be 100 and then died only to be reborn. But the government was not having it.

So there were mass protests on a scale that had never been seen on Earth before. But police had protective auras around them and used lasers on the crowd. After that the resistance movement went underground. But the authorities hunted them down one by one.

If you lost a limb they knew you had been at a protest and banished you to prison...

But finally most of the top leaders had been assassinated so finally the government reversed course and let people have their eternal youth.

Girl PAX-300, was elected to the Presidency of the USA, and she used MRT (mind reading technology) to prevent supercomputers and super humans from happening.

She said she was the savior of humanity. But many scientists said she was a Luddite and doing, "crimes against the future."

Some called her the woman who stopped the future from coming.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Clearly she was a woman who cared. And most people realized this. But she feared she was fighting a losing battle. People would go into space and the spies could not keep up. But most agreed she was paranoid. There had been no WW III.

The moral of the story is if you give people a candy jar they won't want to give it back.

FRAUDSTERS WITHOUT SPIES

Girl NO-00 said the world would be better off without spies... But she had a lie detector to screen potential citizens. And they would perform hypnosis to make sure the person hadn't been hypnotised to fool the detector. But it was all out in the open she claimed. And the public was free to ask questions on the lie detector on these new citizens. It was the year 2641 A.D.

But she was not screening people to find the good, but rather wanted evil criminals...

So it was a crime world in which most worked as fraudulent bankers, insurance fraud and stock fraud. Some they actually helped at first hiding their money off world here on M--- planet. But they cheated everyone in the end.

Girl N-- took 25% of their "earnings."

She had bought 80 unsettled planets and tried to convince people to settle there. All of her planets had robots building domes for future cities.

She dreamt of one day ruling a huge Empire, an Empire larger than had previously been seen. People didn't know she acquired her planets through criminal enterprise. She simply said she'd been born rich and made very wise investments.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Like many of the others in this book she was power-crazed. Greed would likely be her downfall.

The moral is criminals are thinking big in these future days.

RUSSIAN DICTATOR

One day in 2033 A.D. Russia suddenly attacked the USA. The Russians it turned out had better hackers and their nuclear missiles clung close to the ground and could not be picked up. To everyone's surprise the USA gave in and surrendered.

Henceforth everyone had to learn Russian and no dissent was tolerated. No free speech. Everyone was saying quietly it was a crime against humanity but if you spoke too loud you'd disappear

The USA President and his advisors were executed.

Chess master Girl CX-11 was the mastermind behind the attack and she had designed superior computers.

Next the Russians took China, then India fell and suddenly the whole world was governed by Russia.

But the Russians kept the economic milieu intact except that now it was more corrupt and Russians headed most companies.

The United Russia (UR) was now the government of the world.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Wars of the future will mostly be based on hacker success or failure.

The moral of the story is there's no end to the military industrial complex and the most clever and ruthless will rule...

INVISIBLE TRUCKS AND PEOPLE

Girl NC started out as a simple magician. But soon grew tired of traditional tricks. So she got a job top secret for designing invisible vehicles and people.

Invisible trucks that could defy radar or alarm systems. So one day she used the trucks to get into Fort Knox and stole all the gold. It was a giant magic trick.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Technology is moving so fast (in the year A.D. 2056); it is hard for people to keep up.

The moral of the story is those with the best technology win in the end.

DEVIL INSIDE

She specialized in giving criminals a new identity. New fingerprints, new irises, but she also had her illicit surgeons to do neurosurgery to make them more evil. When they awoke from surgery they didn't even notice their brains had been altered, but now they had the "devil inside."

The devil tempted and dared them to do acts of evil. It was the year 2549 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Criminals will thrive in the future and it is up to you to make your own way.

The moral of the story is if you put your future in another's hands, expect to be driven mad and living a life of pain. And if you try to change your brain be ready for crazy effects.

STUD FARM

Here in Bradbury-07 world, men were kept chained in her stable. She had her maids "milk" the studs of their semen. She couldn't think of any other use for her studs.

She had top quality studs who she had purchased and sold their sperm for big bucks. The men all had very large penises and were very handsome.

Now in the year 2133 A.D. each stud was worth millions of dollars

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some women are sex-crazed and treat men as chattels. The shoe is on the other foot now...

The moral of the story is one should avoid slavery at all cost, one must retain one's freedom and not risk it in risky worlds.

BREAKING THE CONTRACT

She was attracted to men who had a mate under contract and got the men to break the contract by seducing them.

Sometimes she blackmailed the men to pay $1 billion. And it was rumored she made deals with women to get men to break the contract and they split the money.

She used the money to buy planets and on Bob's World had robots building a large domed city.

Finally she was wealthy enough to retire and so went to Bob's World and lived in her palace with her sex machines, servant robots and virtual reality movies.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

She didn't respect love and sought to profit from other's romance. All she cared for was money.

The moral of the story is don't pay blackmailers.

STILL MORE GOLD

Here it was common for women to spray paint their bodies in real gold. The Golden Ones. It was the year 2466 A.D.

And they had special powers to be able to turn anything into gold. They were very popular and had the Midas Touch.

They were androids with super powered ability.

Real gold could be determined by testing, so few tried to wear fake gold.

Sometimes Girl UY-, immortalized gold-painted women as statues, frozen in time. They couldn't move but could otherwise think and communicate with MRT. They thought to tourists to save them from their fate, but nobody helped them, believing they must have deserved their destiny.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Why do people buy into this gold routine? Gold and money drives many people insane and causes them to commit crimes, anything to have more money.

The moral of the story is gold is the only thing that matters to most people so you might as well accept it. But don't let them dominate you.

MICROBOT DISEASE

She developed a new type of disease with micro bots. If you had the disease, you would die in a month. But she carried it and infected numerous men, mostly important men including the Prime Minister of Israel and Canada. It was the year 2651 A.D.

There was as yet no known cure for this new disease.

PSYCHO ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some new diseases were inevitable. But why did she do it? It seemed as if she hated all humanity especially men.

The moral of the story is the future is a scary place. Too much power and too many powerful people. There is no solution...

AGAINST IMMORTALITY

Some criminals vied with one another to have the most gold and diamond jewellery. Fakes set off an alarm at the door, so every woman had the real deal.

But finally Girl Po—decided immortality was empty and pulled out the plug of the cryogenically frozen and assassinated those who were known to have eternal youth. And pulled the plug on leadership clones who were just developing in the incubator. People talked and there were few secrets these days, just like always.

But finally they identified Girl Po—and her punishment was to be thrown into the oubliette where she was forgotten and eaten by others in the dark.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Girl Po--- was just another woman who felt empty in the modern world milieu. She was jealous however of others and wouldn't accept her role in life. Bu the head honchos were in charge and nothing could stop them in their depredations.

The moral of the story is if you take on the world you will inevitably perish, likely in a cruel way.

AMPUTEE WORLD

Here criminals had their arms and legs removed. It was the year 2367 A.D.

But one day a tourist came and bought one of the amputees.

She took the amputee girl back to her home planet where she could re-grow her limbs. She got a job as a tour guide and then worked her way up the corporate ladder to become CEO. So then she bought the amputee planet and had her goons dismember the legs and arms of all the goody-goody, vain people and re-grew the limbs of the criminals.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS

“Man’s cruelty to man...” as the poet said.

Some people such as this girl in question enjoyed fucking one another over. It was not the design of the UW (United Worlds)

The moral is as a tourist you needed to research the planet you were going to.

SUZETTE

Children here were born in the incubator and after 9 months were deposited in the common hall. Here older children received a piece of meat in a day and the babies were given milk machines to suckle on. It was the year 2212 A.D.

UW law 19-2 stated that all children must be given an education by their respective governments.

But these children were not educated and communicated only in grunts. The bigger ones bullied the younger ones and sometimes murdered them.

When they reached the age of twelve they were taken to work in the mines with picks and other primitive tools. Males and females both.

Many died but no one cared.

Suzette was worried about high technology so used human slaves to produce gold. She used the gold to buy luxuries such as a palace, an air car, the best food and drugs, weapons and so on.

There were no more adults left except the two female scientists who made the children using the sperm bank and their own eggs. Suzette loved making love with these female scientists.

Suzette had 20 female goons for security and these goons abused the mining slaves in every way.

According to H's "Book of Worlds," this world allowed no visitors and was a mystery.

Some intrepid adventurers however dared to come here and were duly chained and enslaved in the mines.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Suzette was just another power-crazed dictator, and there was no need for cruelty but she was cruel. UW police identified her as a problem but didn't intervene as there were no complaints...

The moral of the story is trust the "Book of Worlds," and don't go to risky worlds...

BREAST- EATING WOMAN

She kept the vast majority of this women's planet in solitary confinement. It was just her and servant robots and 99 in solitary. It was the year 2565 A.D.

She told the women in solitary that they had breast cancer and so surgically removed their breasts. Then she ate the tender meat.

Then her robot surgeons altered their minds so that they could become a good artist. Subsequently they painted pictures depicting insanity, pain and evil. She sold the paintings off world and some fetched a good price.

Real paintings had many security features and were difficult to copy.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

There's no end of cruel women these days who will use and abuse all around them.

The moral of the story is maybe one day an evil person will control all of humanity.

CRIMES OF PASSION

In a fit of jealous rage, Girl TY—murdered her mate.

There was no way to predict crimes of passion.

Her punishment was to be in a women's prison where she was raped again and again by the guards. Then she was transferred after 10 years to another prison...

The punishment here was to stay locked in a room which resembled hotel rooms of old. And they had alcohol and weed. However there was no entertainment and so the prisoners were left alone with their thoughts. It drove them mad, in this day and age entertainment through VR (virtual reality) was essential.

Finally she hung herself. It was the year 2487 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Since the beginning of time, people suddenly snapped and committed murder. It was hard to judge such people.

The moral is one mistake can ruin your entire life.

THE NEW SAVIOR

She said she was an avatar of Jesus, Mohammed, Buddha etc. And she had come to save the world. It was the year 2180 A.D.

She said people are living wrong and need to fight against evil. But some of her followers pointed out that it was murder to kill your enemies. Such people are of no account she said, they are evil.

As time went on she had a large mob of followers. They went to villages and demanded people convert to the new savior's army. If they did not they would be enslaved as soldiers.

The new savior had 3 golden maxims”

1. Gods exist as aliens
2. Do creative things to please the aliens
3. Read, “The Mad Life of the New Savior” This book detailed the creative struggle of the New Savior. It was full of moralistic lessons and imagination.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

It is just a matter of time before a new savior comes to Earth. Such a person would have magnetic charm. And be power crazed and start a cult. There were a number of cults already these days, but their “saviors” didn't catch the public's eye.

The moral is charisma is perhaps the most important quality to have in the days of the future.

WHISTLE-BLOWER

Here dissidents were crucified. One such dissident didn't speak up and so was not punished, but he did an anonymous poll and found 38% didn't like their lives here.

But they had no credits here and the only way off world was to get a job on a star ship. Star ships stopped here a few times a year and if you could convince them you'd be a valuable slave then you might join the voyage.

Girl ZXY--- was one of the leaders of this world. But after a few decades here was thoroughly bored. She was a lawyer and was in charge of the court here as judge.

But she had a moderate sum of credits worth of jewellery and so she took a short trip on a space ship.

Finally after years of being a judge in several worlds she was appointed to the UW Supreme Court based in NYC.

The court was 151 judges typically 3 for a case.

But they only had jurisdiction over 347 of the 750 settled worlds (2744A.D.)

But the court condemned Girl ZXY—'s home world for not allowing free speech and liberty. She said liberty is an illusion and no one was free. Just like with hunter-gatherers, all knew everything about everyone.

But she was sentenced to 10 years as a slave for her role in what her home planet, Sirius-08, had become.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Everything comes to light in the end. And when the UW hears about crimes against humanity they got involved within the planets under their jurisdiction.

The moral of the story is life's problems is if one wanted free speech and liberty one had to fight for it. And the long arm of the law can strike when one least expects it.

NEW WEAPONS

Girl LUV-88, was a general in the army of planet HIVE-91. It was the year 2514 A.D.

There were always a few wars going on. Weapons included the death ray, nukes and defences included stealth invisibility and rainbow lasers. Air tanks had missiles and anti-missile lasers. But mostly it came down to hacking. Hackers could disable any particular system.

So war typically had few casualties. All the casualties were slaves... It was just a game for the rich, people of leisure.

LUV-88 waged war on many planets and so created an Empire without any casualties. It was the perfect Empire...

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

In the future, the best intellects will triumph, which is probably a good thing.

But some settlements will rely on just hackers for defence.

The moral is women generals will prefer MRT (mind reading technology) and hacking to overcome the enemy.

TRADITIONAL GREEN-HAIRED GIRL

She had green hair and blue lips but considered herself to be a traditional woman. She liked sex in zero gravity and sodomy was her favorite type of sex. It was the year 2503 A.D.

She started one day to have her goon women pin men down and cut off their penis and testicles. She then hooked the severed member up to a blood line and so she could ride on them and each had a name.

Most of the men bled to death, none of them were able to escape to other worlds as they had no credits.

Survivors were put to work in the gold mines, using dangerous explosives in which many men died. Their cause was hopeless.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Women these days were often cruel and ruthless. And many were perverts. This woman seemed to be on a power trip like so many others these days.

The moral of the story is make sure your leader is a good person.

CRIME DUO, A.D. 2065

Girl ORT--- and Girl URT---

They hated police for harassing them about drugs and even imprisoning them. So they decided to wipe out police officers, especially high-ranking officers. They would follow detectives and then kill them with a laser and often booby trapped the body with a bomb to kill other detectives.

Most of their victims though were police detectives whose bodies were weighted down and dumped in a lake far away from the crime scene and they couldn't find the bodies.

They were never caught. Until finally they were after 20 years of murder and 316 victims.

The court punished them with the death penalty. Even though they were only guilty of one charge of murder. They couldn't pin them to the other crimes.

But while on death row they claimed they had found Jesus and many people were sympathetic. Also they claimed to be paranoid schizophrenics and not responsible for their actions. So finally their sentence was commuted to 10 years in the insane asylum.

And after 10 years they got out. So they went to Africa where no one could trace them, thus breaking their parole.

Here in Africa they killed the leaders and let chaos happen. Most leaders were men and easily seduced.

And so they drifted from country to country, and they were never caught again.

They changed their identity through illicit doctors and had fake passports, fake irises and fake fingerprints. Their DNA was on file however.

And both had learned fluent Spanish while they were in prison.

So then they went to South America. And worked as "hit men" for the drug barons. It was still a source of cocaine and opiates here.

They masqueraded as police women. And captured many important people. And killed them.

Then they did the surprising crime of forcing police to have sex with animals and then broadcast it over the web.

Mexico declared it was a national disgrace.

All the videos were released at once with 129 Mexican police caught in bestiality videos.

But they couldn't recognize the two women as they kept changing their face and ID. There were millions of pretty faces to choose from, some of which had never existed. And they sold their famous faces on the web and claimed they were behind the police embarrassment.

And they lived happily ever after...

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Men often let down their guard when they are around beautiful women...

The moral is don't get inebriated with strangers nor have sex with them.

ALTERED ELECTION RESULTS

Clever hackers fooled the election controllers and got their independent candidate elected in the USA. It was the year 2344 A.D.

Everyone knew democracy was a joke after the Bush and Clinton dynasties of the late 20th, early 21st century

People were suspicious after what happened to Al Gore. And corruption ran deep thereafter, just like always.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

The future will be all about fixing elections, just like magic.

There never has been a true democracy and the elite never wanted it...

Just elect one of two Presidential candidates that are approved by the elite.

The moral is in the future cheating and fraud will become high tech.

VAMPIRE

She began as a famous writer of vampire novels. But she actually drunk peoples' blood until they were dead. If she drank their blood 3 times in 3 days they would die so she often drank their blood only once a week. Of course she had large canine teeth which is perhaps why she decided to become a vampire. It was the year 2213 A.D.

Victims brushed it off as a hickey.

She would knock them out with tranquilizers and then drink their blood. She basically lived on blood.

She appeared as a ghost but was actually human.

But they allowed their blood drunk out of love. Love was the curse of the 23rd century.

But finally some denizens of this planet cried foul. And she was charged with crimes against humanity and was arrested. And sentenced to death but on the scaffold she claimed she was immortal and had clones and killing her solved nothing.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some believe the world we live in is just a dream, just a fiction.
If someone invents a new type of monster people are all over it.

Doctors in the past were known as leeches and drew blood only most of them didn't drink it.

In the case of this girl it was sadistic, crazy love. And one felt "drained" afterwards.

The moral of the story is don't fall in love; it is too dangerous.

INVISIBLE MURDER

Professor PL--- was murdered by an invisible assailant. The cameras couldn't pick him up he was moving too fast.

He had been stabbed in broad daylight by an unknown assailant.

After that there were a number of scientists murdered.

But a certain perfume lingered after the murder and so they knew it was a female.

Just testing the cameras was the motive agreed upon by police.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Invisible futurians will make for no end of crime.

It will be a technological battle between those who have the gold and those who want it.

The moral is the future is scary, but we must put our best foot forward.

INSANE DRUGS

Drugs were given to the wayward people amongst them to drive them insane. The authorities didn't want to murder anyone, but they wanted them to realize that their actions were not up to the mark. After a drug session their mind was tested using MRT (mind reading technology) to see if they were willing to change. If not they went totally crazy and typically came to a bad end. It was the year 2257 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

The poor will always be henceforth insane.

The moral is drugs are a double-edged sword... But in the future authorities will likely try to take control using drugs to satisfy the masses,

MAGIC GOOSE

Here in the year 2750 A.D., they had mastered small machines to produce gold from food. Such as the magic goose which could lay golden eggs. It represented a breakthrough in gold science and resulted in far more gold. Everyone could buy such a “goose.”

And they built golden domes on far off worlds.

Tunnels, undersea domes, palaces etc. all were made of gold. Some people claimed they were sick of gold and wanted platinum instead.

Jack X--- stole the golden geese for his own enrichment. But then he wanted platinum geese.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

People in the future will do anything for gold/money. You need to beware of their insane greed... Their clutching, grasping, madness.

The moral is people will get crazier and crazier about gold, and one has to go along for the ride.

DRUG MACHINES

Maximize stimulants never go low. People were very creative on cocaine.

Girl RXR-51, tinkered with the drug machines to cause thousands to overdose. And they died alone, irrevocably. It was the year 2398 A.D.

But most paramedics concluded the corpses had been too greedy for drugs or had killed themselves.

And Girl R--, was never caught

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

There are many pitfalls in life. One must be careful not to die like a dog.

The moral is you have to make it on your own and not depend on others.

SUBLIMINAL MURDER

Girl JH-08 put subliminal messages in her net advertising. The message was kill the President and kill famous people.

Soon after she started people were trying to kill famous people. One man detonated a nuclear bomb just outside the White House/ Congress killing all the prominent US politicians. They caught him though and through hypnosis they determined he had been guided by the subliminal ads of Girl JH-08.

Others fired laser rifles from long range, killing famous people. No famous people were safe any more and Hollywood was closed down.

They had an election for the new President, but all the candidates were murdered, so finally the army stepped in and declared martial law.

But some terrorists were inspired to form death cults and plot murder by hacking into peoples' Net. It was virtual anarchy in the US and it appeared the mighty US had fallen.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Subliminal messages were like hypnotism and people couldn't resist the urge.

The moral of the story is some people are influenced by subliminal ads and there's nothing that can be done about it.

SHE BUILT SOME CROOKED HOUSES

She, MNB-22 used sea sand full of salt to build homes for people. And she installed pipes made of lead and a container of rat poison that slowly flowed into the water pipes. And she used asbestos everywhere. It was the year 2040 A.D.

Finally after 50 people died relatively young the authorities figured it out and arrested her, MNB-22

Her punishment was solitary in prison and regular lead injections into her arm. She slowly went crazy and got sick, but families of the victims wanted her to die very slowly and painfully.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Crime always has its punishment. But sometimes victims are overly vengeful.

The moral of the story is some people hate humanity and there's not much that can be done about it. Best to stay away from such people.

AT THE CREMATORIUM

Girl PH-90 was supposed to cremate many men but before she did so she took hairs by the roots etc. and so had the DNA of the dead. Many of the dead men died in accidents or suicides. It was the year 2199 A.D.

She had their clones born again in an incubator and raised them to love and respect her. It was a challenge as some of the males she raised were depressed and suicidal.

And when they were 18 she would love them (she still looked young).

But she didn't change their faces and family and friends of the deceased took notice and called the authorities. In total it was calculated that she had 45 men under her control.

But her “men” had no skills and a poor education so they were wage slaves in the service industry. Most of them had no reason to live without Girl PH-90.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

“Damaged goods,” were common in this world.

The moral of the story is the future is not perfect and will be full of abuse.

THE BIZARRE STORY OF GIRL CE-88

Girl CE-88, hated society from the beginning.

She started her adult life as a petty thief, stealing cash from offworlders. But then she graduated to running a tabloid. She followed tourists and exposed their sex life. Of course this was highly embarrassing and so most of the tourists paid her not to show pictures of them loving prostitutes etc.

It was an outrageous magazine

She used a hidden lie detector in her interviews with unsuspecting tourists.

And she took “live shots” of men using her MRT (mind reading technology) equipment and broadcasting the men’s thoughts live. Everyone was deathly afraid of this.

She’d get them drunk and then ask them if they’d ever done a crime etc. And she’d record their voice.

As time passed tourists were warned about the tabloid, but authorities did nothing as she had them in compromising situations also.

Finally the authorities assassinated her, but she had a number of clones and the tabloid continued. Soon she expanded to virtually every settled world and her clones were fabulously rich.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

It was a world of scandal. People wanted to read the scandals of famous people.

The moral of the story is nobody's perfect and we all have something to hide. And we hope we never have to reveal it.

ANOTHER WHISTLE BLOWER

Girl RR-44, was a former spy who revealed to the world that spies were reading their thoughts with MRT (mind reading technology). It was the year 2070 A.D.

In the next few weeks, 1% of the population committed suicide. People were shocked and stunned. Mobs of armed people filled the city squares throughout the US.

Martial law was declared and the crowds were hit with sleeping gas and arrested and imprisoned in make shift prison camps.

Finally everyone was afraid of everyone else. They were all paranoid.

Some wondered how long they'd been doing this. Most people said it was a secret that had to get out immediately. Others said they'd been doing it for a century which seemed completely impossible.

As for Girl RR-44, she was killed by lethal injection quietly and without a trial.

Civilian scientists tried to develop commercially available MRT but after 20 years they still didn't quite have it.

And though people were paranoid, they eventually got used to the situation and martial law was lifted.

No one seemed to care about a bunch of dissidents anyway.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some said MRT was the end of the world. But it was just like nuclear weapons and was potentially dangerous, potentially good.

The moral of the story was if you blew the whistle it was often a death sentence, but still some people did it anyway.

YET ANOTHER WHISTLEBLOWER

Girl PR-65 revealed on the Net news that the government of the USA had eternal youth and were hiding it from the people. She pointed out some older politicians who looked like they were 18.

Anyway people believed her.

And there were riots and demonstrations, but these were put down by the authorities who denied they had eternal youth.

Many were anti-government as a result. It was the year A.D. 2099.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Whistle-blowers are just like someone who jumped off a cliff to the rocks below. It was unlikely they'd survive. Some people believe strongly in the truth, but this was like suicide these days.

Eternal youth will totally transform society and make people into Gods...

But who knew what secrets there are in this world.

The moral is you have to fight for your rights.

RADICAL DISSIDENT BABIES

Evil doctor, Girl ABC-15 was in charge of test tube baby/incubator production at a hospital on Mars. But she changed the DNA slightly to make each foetus grow up to be a radical dissident.

After 20 years there were so many young dissidents on Mars and people wondered why? They took over the government and tried to make everyone else into a radical as well.

But finally technology advanced to the point where they could identify the altered DNA, but she got wind of it and fled off world. She went to deep space still believing that dissidents were the best of all people and it was through dissidents that she claimed made the Earth what is was today.

People who think differently...

So she changed her identity and worked as a biochemist. She worked on top secret superhuman research on planet Saur. She argued for not pure IQ scientists but rather those who had imagination. It was the year 2316 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Sometimes criminals are right. Naturally they want to breed as much as possible.

EVIL NURSE RT-88

She switched babies just after birth out of sheer malice and over 10 years had switched 255.

Finally a parental couple found out in a DNA test that their son wasn't theirs. It was the year 2087 A.D.

So she was arrested and charged and sentenced to 200 years in prison without possibility of parole. But that same year eternal youth came to planet KEP-55. And so she served out her sentence. A lot had changed in 200 years, she couldn't understand this new virtual society, but she was a creature of habit and after she was out on bail, she immediately she struck up a romance with a hospital security guard.

The guard had all the key codes and so she shut down the power and the back up power to the incubators (She studied a bit of engineering, while in prison), killing thousands.

The security guard proclaimed his innocence and through MRT (mind reading technology) it was revealed his girlfriend was to blame. But she had already fled off world where she settled down with a rich magnate. After a few years she killed him making it look like a suicide. And then she bought planet JOKER-01 and lived happily ever after.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some people hate the Earth and its culture. And they just try to think of ways to sabotage it. In this case she made fun of parents and made them look stupid.

The moral of the story is evil women have to be identified by the UW, and be incarcerated as they should be for the rest of their lives.

REHAB

This institution was for drug addicts of which there were over a billion in the solar system alone. It was the year 2278 A.D.

This institution practiced brain surgery which made you to appear normal and good.

People were released after only a couple of days and given a job and told to be normal. The common man was to be praised and emulated.

People here could live until 70 and then they were forced to overdose on morphine.

No one could get rich as taxes on the rich were 99%

But finally super human voyageurs came here and took control, killing off most of the people.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some say the common man is best. Not so crazy like clever people. Perhaps society has peaked and the common man is to take over many worlds. But the powers that be said clever people were the future not ordinary folk. And in fact ordinary people will likely not be welcome in the future.

The moral of the story is it is dog eat dog and foolish, ordinary people have no place in the future. Sad to say in these vast universes.

STEEL WOMAN

She used MRT (mind reading technology) to identify bad citizens in her kingdom. She was President of the UK. She hypnotised suicide bombers to eliminate her political opponents. But she wouldn't go in public or for a lie detector test. Instead she declared martial law and now many opponents disappeared. It was the year 2107 A.D.

But other countries put sanctions on her and the USA threatened to invade. But she ruled in a junta with 4 generals who had been MRT'd (mind reading technology) to ensure their loyalty to her. She had sex with all 4, they were all males.

And she threatened the USA with Armageddon if they attacked.

Some British said it was just like the book 1984 with a Big Sister in power.

She ruled with a steel hand and was PM for life.

Finally she died at age 120 after ruling for 80 years and keeping Britain not free and not prosperous.

It was rumored that the hospital doctors had murdered her.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

She was corrupted by power like most dictators. But she knew Britain had dangerous weapons so no one could mess with her.

Power for such people is like candy to a baby.

The moral is the future will be full of dictators, some enlightened, some not. But you have to work within the system or emigrate, it's that simple.

ANOTHER MAGIC WOMAN

She would appear on various worlds and claim to be a magician. In her magic acts however she made prominent people disappear into thin air. Everyone thought it was a joke at first, but then she left the world with the captured men in cages of teleportation. Teleportation was new technology and most people didn't know anything about it.

She used the captured men to perform experiments on.

Primarily she had a DNA experiment where her eggs were used and thousands of generations of sperm impregnated them. Each generation of sperm took just a few days. And again and again the strongest and likely to lead to the most intelligent sperm was taken. Finally she started producing babies with the men and the babies grew up to be 8'tall and with an IQ of 220.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some people took the law into their own hands and in the case of scientists, it was very dangerous.

The moral of the story is evolutionarily-speaking, people want their clones and children to rule the world. And they are hard to stop, being so clever as they are.

AUTUMN BLUES

This republic on planet VIVE-79 was a world of conservative, traditional people who wanted to escape the madness of Earth.

One day, Girl DS-44, she turned off the power and back up power to the settlement, and everyone quickly froze to death.

She made it look like she was the only survivor who had used the escape hatch to escape in a space capsule.

But secret cameras identified her turning off the power.

So they arrested her and sentenced her to a sadomasochist world. Large-dicked men nailed her up the ass and she was bleeding and had an infection. Then all the men raped her, again she was infected and finally they removed all her teeth so she could give an excellent blow job. Then they pissed and shit on her.

Finally she committed suicide and it was over.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

There's no end to the damage that can be caused by a criminal woman.

In many cases women aren't suspects, but rather males. But this time they got it right and everyone was pleased by the punishment.

The moral of the story is some people hate conservative people. And as time goes by there are fewer and fewer conservatives. They are all Luddites.

SEX DISEASE

Girl QR-707 was in desperate straits. She had two kids and was forced into prostitution whereby she got a new sex disease. The cure cost $1 million and she couldn't afford to pay so she infected every man she slept with. And she figured she had to turn 8 tricks a night to pay the bills.

Anyway soon everyone in this planet had the sex disease and tourists were warned to stay away.

It all happened because society wouldn't take care of this one woman.

But finally her children grew up and left this diseased world with her blessing and she continued to work as a prostitute, most people feeling they all had the disease so it didn't matter.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Sex disease is akin to murder for some. There will always be poor people, who are cast out from society who don't feel they care about others. In this case one prostitute ruined the whole planet and her children after she got the disease were all full of birth defects/monsters.

The moral of the story is you need to include everyone as a citizen and not look down on anyone.

OLDEST WOMAN

She was the oldest woman in the world at 194. She had eternal youth like everyone else, and had been a stripper in her youth. She claimed she'd done it all and could still perform as a stripper. She said she'd loved Presidents and magnates and traveled to many worlds. It was the year 2214 A.D.

But she was captured by the New Vision Corp. who enslaved her and charged people to talk with her or make love with her. Many men wanted to love her and add it as a feather in their cap. But her captors listened in and recorded her love which made her look like a whore.

Senility had been cured long ago and she was sharp and witty but she didn't dare slag her captors lest she be tortured or starved. She told people who paid to visit her that in life one needs to "go with the flow."

Some claimed to be more experienced than her and therefore older in real terms, but few believed that.

Some asked her what was her key to a long life? She said lots of booze and drugs, somewhat surprisingly. Obviously she had good genes to begin with.

People who loved her took nude photos of her and spread them on the Net which drove many men crazy.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Every unusual trait was being used these days. And people became enslaved accordingly.

The moral is novelty rules...

THE UGLIEST WOMEN

Here Girl WW-22, collected the ugliest women imaginable. Grossly overweight, severe acne, open sores, discoloration etc. It was the year 2095 A.D.

But many perverted men wanted to love these women. It was just like going to a bar and fucking a fat chick whilst drunk.

But some couldn't go through with it and threw up on these women.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

These days it seemed everyone was sadomasochist.

The moral is some people are obsessed with the grotesque. And there is plenty of disgusting horrors in this universe.

CHEATERS PROSPER

She challenged other chess masters to a game of chess. The winner took all of the loser's assets. But she had an invisible device in her ear which told her the computer's best moves. Her device could not be detected by the detection devices. So she won every time. It was the year 2123 A.D.

And she amassed a fortune and didn't feel sorry at all for the people she'd swindled. And many of her victims were reduced to slavery. And she noted that many of the chess masters couldn't believe they'd been beaten by a woman. They were chauvinists she said.

But she gambled most of the money away in casinos

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

In the future everyone will be cheating one another all the time it seems.

The moral is there will be no honest people in the future.

WHO SHOT JT?

JT-79 was shot to death with a laser and no one knew why? It was the year 2214 A.D.

About 100 women had been hypnotised to take the blame and gave detailed accounts of how they independently killed him.

After long hours of hypnosis they identified 2 women as likely murderers.

But it was thrown out in court as jurors couldn't believe in the power of hypnotism. The authorities didn't want to reveal the true power of hypnotism...

So it was a cold case.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Many think we live in a world of illusion and hypnosis leads to many illusions.

The moral is don't allow others to hypnotise you. But rather observe others being hypnotised.

COUNTRY OF THE DEAF

Here they made discordant sounds while making love, working etc. They were deaf... It was the year 2316 A.D.

They were all enslaved by a passing space ship. Who used them as part of their traveling circus. They claimed these people had a more sensitive touch than others and their love was fantastic.

People these days would kill for any novelty.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Why these people insisted on being deaf is a mystery. They were all stubborn it seemed.

The moral is if you have some “special” or “unusual” character trait then you will be used.

ANOTHER FAILED UTOPIA

She believed most people should work as farmers, fishermen, miners etc. With just one leader and no upper class... Except for the leaders’ children. It was all “in the family.” Kind of like a ruling mafia... It was the year 2568 A.D.

But in time a pirate space ship came here and enslaved everyone including the ruling family and sold them on far off worlds...

The captors believed slaves were the lowest of the low and were to be used and abused.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

In the early days of space, back in the 21st century, there were many Utopian dreamers who went to space to get away from others.

The moral is there is no such thing as Utopia.

Girl RIM-95

She was a spy for a world of chaos. The planet was Aristo-55. She voyaged to other planets causing troubles and dismay. It was the year 2459 A.D.

UW police were having a hard time identifying criminals who were chaotic agents.

But UW spies were not interested in peace, but rather in “worlds that were just.”

There were always new territories to conquer.

Agent provocateurs from this world Aristo-55 were bent on causing chaos.

Some called Girl RM-76 an Antichrist.

But finally this world, like so many others, resulted in the whole population being enslaved. Being a chaotic anarchist was not a recipe for a successful world.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Chaotic anarchists all said that they were the freest. But of course too much freedom for one leads to lack of freedom for others.

The moral is it is hard to be free.

ANOTHER TERRORIST

She, Girl Y-01 was obsessed with fire and told friends that fire had made civilization possible. Some disagreed but she didn't care what they have to say. It was the year 2102 A.D.

She typically drove by and dropped nuclear bombs on important governmental buildings killing everyone...

She would drive in her air car and follow politicians' air motorcade and then drop the bombs.

And then she would bomb the opponents of the other politicians and so on.

And she blew up mosques, churches and other religious establishments with a view to starting civil wars...

She caused a number of civil wars on many planets. People were only too willing to fight.

And many were religious these days, it was the year 2102. Religious people were still 35% of the population. And they all wanted to "fight evil."

Of course there were cameras everywhere, but she wore a mask and left no DNA as she was totally shaved. And in most cases she disabled the cameras.

She knew all about computers and so the world was her oyster.

So she went from world to world causing chaos...

But finally the government were on to her despite her ritual of changing air cars many times. And they caught her.

Her punishment was to be injected with nuclear powered material which caused a slow, painful death and then was revived and poisoned again and so on.

But after that there were a lot of copy cat crimes, pyromania was golden.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Why are some people so obsessed with fire? It would seem to be in their genes to love fire.

The moral is when it comes to violence no one is more violent than an agent provocateur.

A GENUINE WOMAN

She told everyone she was looking for an honest man. She had a miniature lie detector which identified all men as liars.

She said people are disgusted with themselves and seek refuge in VR (virtual reality) fantasy. Forget their troubles.

People lived in a dream, she said.

Reality was boring to them.

Finally she got hold of an MRT (mind reading technology) machine and forced people to be real. But she was arrested for illicit possession and use of MRT.

Her punishment was perpetual nightmares generated by insane computers. So she killed herself. Good riddance they said.

But a handful of people figured she was a genius and worshipped her image and read her books.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Don't expect too much from others, rather do things for yourself.

The moral of the story is the future will largely be illusion.

SISTERHOOD OF VIRGINS

This planet was run by two lesbian "virgins" who had eternal youth and were filthy rich. They made money mainly in the female virgin trade.

If you wanted planet Moliere-90's well-trained virgins, you had to pay big bucks. In all the original hymen was still intact and the sisterhood had a reputation for only having true virgins.

The virgins were purchased while still an adolescent, and were trained to be clever in conversation etc. or so they thought. And they were given a dream to marry a magnate or other powerful man and live a golden life.

Typically after a man loved one of the virgins he dumped her and went off world and she was sold into slavery. But they didn't tell the others, she simply disappeared and they were told she was happy and in love.

And fake e-mails were sent to the sisterhood for all the virgins to read about how so and so was getting along famously...

Some off world human rights advocates complained about the treatment of the virgins but M—planet was not under the jurisdiction of the UW so nothing could be done about it.

But M—planet had up to date weaponry and hacking defences so it was able to survive as an independent planet.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Innocence in modern worlds was abused by more worldly people. And people will tell you what you want to hear.

The moral of the story is educate yourself and don't be ignorant.

GODDESS OF RANDOMNESS

She told the people of this planet upon arrival that she was the “Goddess of Randomness (GOR).”

She had some thugs with her and easily took power in this conservative, religious and poor planet.

She demanded the people abandon their religion and worship her instead.

But most refused and so they were gunned down at some protests or while at their traditional religious edifice.

They quoted UW law 38-2 which stated that no one could be forced to change or adopt a religion.

And their religion was a very Christian Muslim religion

But to the GOR, they were all stubborn idiots. They were of no use and that is why this remote world was still independent. They didn't even make good slaves...

And the GOR was bored and brought in some crazy people to make things interesting.

The crazies got into the zealots heads using MRT (mind reading technology) and forced them to kill themselves in creative, new ways.

For example go outside the dome in the cruel elements and wank to death.

Or read their holy books out loud while they were burned at the stake.

Or death by different poisons... And so on.

The crazies would ask them what would be their epitaph? And often engineered their deaths related to that.

For example one woman said she wanted to be remembered as a good mother and good citizen. So the crazies turned her children against her and she was outcast into the cruel clime of this planet.

It was estimated that 35% of people in the universe were religious with the overwhelming part of that number on Earth. It was the year 2106 A.D.

GOR said religion made people boring.

She told them that in fact God does play dice and she randomly killed/rewarded the citizens of this planet. But it was her plan to kill all the zealots off, but not all at once as that would perhaps cause an international incident.

But it was a hopeless planet. Some of the zealots went to illicit doctors looking to improve their brain but the “doctors” just replaced their brains with one of her own (a cloned copy). But after that they didn’t complain or worship the old Gods.

The GOR’s 1000s of children however were brilliant and ran all kinds of fraudulent businesses making this world very profitable.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

It was becoming clear that small cells of radical groups could not hide in some remote corner of space. Pirates or other settlers would eventually replace them. Their stubbornness led to their downfall. These days one needed to move with the times.

The moral of the story is open your mind as much as you can.

THE STRONG

And she took sperm from off world sperm banks and used her cloned eggs and quickly produced people. Once grown to age 12 she again took the sperm which led to the most aberrant behavior from the new boy and mixed it with her eggs. She repeated this experiment and sped it up so that one generation was just 1 month. So she had got 100's of generations each crazier than the one before. This happened in the 2160's A.D.

In each generation, the human race "improved," itself.

She populated her planet with these crazy super humans. Just her, them and the robots.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

There are many ways to make people smarter, this was one of them. But why was she so obsessed with crazy super humans and not her own people. She'd isolated herself here and basically went mad.

The moral of the story is evolution is accelerating every day.

PEACE PILL

GIRL SQ-46 was a scientist who developed a peace pill... She was a highly paid escort on the side and she put the peace pill in the John's drinks. The pills changed one's body chemistry in an instant, making them peaceful and pacifist. It was the year 2207 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

One day there will be a pill for everything. But her peace pill was the first to change one's brain and make one better.

The moral of the story is in the future there will be a wide variety of pills to change one's brain and one must choose carefully.

THE FAKER

Girl TH-66, she faked orgasms and told people what they wanted to hear.

One day she met a man who she had a real orgasm with (she was on top).

And they went into business developing fake gold. People had put all kinds of things in the gold to identify it as real gold, but this couple matched them all. They had a minute nuclear power plant on their backs and could turn iron into gold with a mere touch.

They would find beautiful people and turn them into solid gold.

Girl TH-66 remarked that the whole world was a sham, with greedy and uncaring leaders...

There was no such thing as friendship and love for most she said. It was the year 2420 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

There is no end to disgruntled people and no end to fakery.

The moral of the story is some people care only for gold which is acquired easily.

UGLY DEEDS

Girl RUM-50 was an illicit doctor who broke everyone's heart.

She would find a good man and then dump him cruelly.

And she would corrupt the innocent.

She was extremely beautiful but her deeds were ugly.

She said people were violent and cruel deep down.

She felt kindness didn't truly exist and that those who said they were kind, were in fact evil.

Girl RUM-50, she had assembled a group of the most 1000 kindest people she could find.

But the people fell into disagreement about the future. Some wanted to go back in time, others thought the present course was fine, still others wanted to progress more rapidly.

They felt so keenly about this that they came to blows and were full of hate for those in the other groups.

RUM-50 figured she had proven that everyone is violent and full of hatred for those who are different from them.

But others said she hadn't assembled the kindest people in fact.

However she was finally arrested for disturbing the peace.

And they put her in a cage with a monkey. She throttled the monkey, but they kept putting new ones in the cage. Finally she made love with a monkey and so proved that she was nuts.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Everywhere people are trying to prove a point. Perhaps no one is truly kind to all humankind, but certainly some people are truly kind and pacifist. Or not!

The moral of the story is do not upset the status quo unless you want to be branded a radical and be imprisoned/tortured with mind reading technology.

FAKE PLASTIC ANDROIDS

People here hated the fake plastic androids who nevertheless appeared human on the outside. They were so good at sex, no one wanted real sex anymore.

People found the androids to be enchanting and romantic. They could sing, recite poetry that they had written etc.

And people were sterilized and so all the “babies” were full grown androids.

Androids had superior minds to humans, but were humbly designed to serve humanity. At least that was the theory. In some places the androids simply took over the government of various space city states.

Of course androids could do all the work but in city states they controlled they enslaved all the humans. Humans had to serve them. They considered humans to be mere animals.

But on one of these worlds a human slave revolt succeeded and humans took control. But it was a very remote location so the android “Emperor” didn’t worry too much about it. But they took the androids money here and bought advanced weapons that could rival those of the androids. And they had some good hackers. And they were researching super humans who could rival the androids intelligence.

And they spread the revolt to other slave cities. You can enslave most of the people but if you enslave all of the people you are asking for trouble.

It all led to a great war led by Girl RR-08 and soon the androids were vanquished. This happened in the year 2389 A.D.

As a result all super computers and androids were destroyed forever. Some called it a genocide unprecedented in history.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Android psychology is not human psychology. Androids want power and ecstasy mostly. Humans will not tolerate an android take over.

The moral of the story is androids were of course unnecessary for human happiness.

HARSH PUNISHMENT

Sometimes the punishment for crime was too draconian. Such as the case of Girl CLE-892 who was just a common thief. On her planet, BAD-892 the punishment was her limbs were cut off one by one slowly and then her head was cut off and then the head lived for a few years. Finally they put her brain in a giraffe. Finally she just laid down and let the lions eat her alive.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Many worlds tried to make punishment as a deterrent to crime. And people knew there was crime and it was punishable extremely. But they did it anyway.

The moral of the story is some criminals get off lucky others get a draconian punishment. But all punishments were bad and most “crimes” were bad too.

BAD SMELL WOMAN

Girl OP-99 had an invisible air breather. She got men drunk and then took them outside of their protective dome where they immediately perished. OP-99 had disabled the invisible cameras in the area where she led men out to.

She hated men. She'd been raped as a child and never got over it.

But finally she was caught after killing 8 men. Her punishment was to live in a bubble hut in the super cold environment. She could not wash and sometimes men would appear and piss and shit on her. She smelled really bad.

And she no longer had eternal youth so she withered away back to a 90 year old face and finally she died of old age.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

This old crone was a disgrace to everyone. What reason could one have to live in such disgrace.

The moral of the story is don't be full of hatred. Live a life of forgiveness.

BLACK PAST

Girl RE-01 had been the daughter of a violent father who finally killed his mate.

So as a youth she met a bad guy and together they operated a baby-smuggling operation. In all, in a number of worlds, they stole 112 babies. There was a market for rich peoples' babies and slavers put them to work to earn them money.

But finally they were caught and their punishment was hard labor in the mines where girl RE-01 was continually raped. It happened in the 2410s A.D.

And as a criminal she was denied eternal youth when she finished her hard labor and she went about as an old crone, an old witch who no one cared about.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

People with criminal parents find it hard to not be a criminal... People these days were not tough like in old days and a bad background for many was unassailable.

The moral of the story is nearly all criminals end up in misery in the end. It has never been anything different.

ANOTHER RAPIST

Girl ZM-95 forced men to love her at knife point. After a dozen such episodes she was arrested. And sent to prison where they probed her mind and tortured her using MRT (mind reading technology).

When she got out of prison she started to sign 1 month love contracts with rich men. This made her a small fortune.

She invested her money in android development, believing the future was with super computers.

And she had numerous male slaves... who were willing and able to love her.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

There's no end to possible tortures. MRT is one of the worst potential tortures. Driving people insane seemed to be in the spirit of our times.

Everyone was mad these days.

The moral of the story is it is best to work within the law, if possible.

THOSE WHO STILL BELIEVED IN LOVE

Girl BR-22, she was cold-hearted and preyed upon men who still believed in love. She would ask them for jewellery and designer clothes and so on. Then she would cruelly dump them...

But girl JE-33 was angry that she had stolen her mate so she murdered girl BR-22 in a jealous rage.

She was charged with first degree murder and found guilty.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

In the heat of passion some people lose it and commit crimes.

These days punishment for murder was the same whether it be first degree or manslaughter in most worlds.

The moral of the story is believing in love is a recipe for disaster.

CORRUPTION

Girl EX-77 was a stunt woman for the circus. She would have sex on the tightrope and the trapeze and trampoline. But finally she got pregnant against the wishes of the circus so they fired her.

She became an advocate for women's rights. But her lobby group was compromised. And she took bribes as they threatened her with death if she didn't take the bribes.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

In all likelihood the future will be corrupt. And laws won't matter much and many people will be anarchists likely. But anarchists wouldn't survive in the long run and there were too many people these days (A.D. 2186).

The moral of the story is many good-willed people become corrupted and feel guilt and remorse about it.

DAYDREAM PILLS

She was a high level prostitute who couldn't pay off her drug bill with her pimp. She loved daydream drugs which would stimulate your daydreams while she had sex with men.

She daydreamed of other men. And she hallucinated that the lover was prince charming, the devil or God himself.

UW law 22-2 stated that prostitution would be legal, but pimps were illegal.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Prostitutes were dreamers. Everyone knew this. Sex was but a dream...

The moral of the story is if it is illegal don't do it lest you fall in amongst evil criminals.

THE DEATH OF MARRIAGE

Girl SQ-55, had a dilemma... She loved two men and wanted to marry them both at the same time in a church wedding etc.

But the thought of marriage turned off both men.

So finally she began taking photos of lovers and threatening to reveal their love to their regular mate.

So they paid her off with her blackmail, but some wanted to kill her. Finally one jealous female lover poisoned her to death. Her name was YY-04.

YY-04's punishment was to listen to the thoughts of her dead rival day after day using MRT (mind reading technology)...

It drove her completely insane and after a 20 year sentence she committed suicide as she was unable to get used to the new reality.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Punishments in the future will be multi-form.

In a world evolving so fast old crimes like blackmail just don't cut it.

The moral of the story is marriage is doomed forever. And there's no point trying to resurrect it.

GUILTY FEELINGS

Girl FK-33 felt guilty about the lives she'd ruined by fraud. So when she got out of jail she went to Africa to help the wounded in the wars there. Wounded people would all survive these days. But she couldn't help returning to crime and stole the wounded's credits and ID and jewellery. She turned off the cameras using her hacking skills.

So they put the staff through a lie detector and she failed. This time she ended up in an African prison which tortured each inmate with as much pain as they could take.

It was a horror story.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Once a criminal, always a criminal. But in the end most criminals get a severe punishment these days. Girl FK-33 felt guilty but she did crimes anyway. Most criminals do not have such a guilty conscience. Quite the opposite in fact.

The moral is criminal minds can expect incredible tortures.

THE MADNESS OF HACKERS

Girl EE-44, was all about money like the rest of the people of this remote planet.

But she swindled each citizen out of small money but it really added up in total. Finally she had enough credits to get off world.

She went to a futuristic city in which her skills as a hacker were very valuable. But they traded her to another city where she worked on hacking weapons of war.

But finally UW police infiltrated this city and put an end to their disrupting hacking and blackmail.

Her punishment was loud recorded voices continually in her head for 16 h a day. She was kept in a rubber room where she couldn't kill herself. She ran about the cell in confusion and was driven mad.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

She was clearly a criminal mind. When criminals travel between worlds they often think big and think about destruction. They think they can do no “wrong.”

The moral is there is no rest for the wicked.

CLOSING DOWN DUE TO FRAUD

It happened that there was so much fraud on the Net that most worlds closed it down and made their own fun in the year 2160 A.D.

And most banks went under due to fraud. So most people in the universe lost all their credits. People ended up looking for jobs as slaves and were totally miserable.

Girl PO-67 was one of the hackers in question. She lived on a farm on old Earth and did her hacking from there. She wanted to bring down this system of mindless luxury and endless riches for the rich.

Finally she was assassinated.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

If you screw a lot of people over, you can be pretty sure you will have to pay the price. Girl PO-67 figured she could just help to destroy the system of worlds and get away with it. Girl PO-67 was not the smartest, though she was very clever...

The moral of the story is the best brains of the Earth will triumph in the end.

A THOROUGHLY UGLY WOMAN

She was born in a shapeless, ugly body, but didn't have the money for genetic therapy/plastic surgery.

No man wanted her. And she lived in a conservative world.

So she got a job in a male only high school and slowly poisoned the food.

When people started being diagnosed with cancer she fled to another place, but investigators tracked her down.

In court she gave an emotional defence saying that she was an outcast and miserable. This occurred in the year 2137 A.D.

But the UW sentenced her to prison. In prison she became a lesbian and had a lot of fun.

To each his/her own.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Many people these days have a victim mentality. They justify their crimes with some absurd defence.

The moral of the story is work hard and cleverly and life will work out for you.

EVERYONE IS A POTENTIAL CRIMINAL

Girl CC-51, claimed everyone was a potential criminal given the right circumstances. The scene was A.D. 2554 A.D.

She corrupted young boys and taught them how to defraud people on the Net.

She had 100s of young men working for her and loving her. And would die for her.

Together they took over the worlds largest company, MN-222 Holdings.

But finally they were arrested by UW police. People couldn't believe a woman would corrupt so many young men.

Her punishment was banishment to a man's prison where she was continually raped by young men.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS

You get what you deserve, as the saying goes...

Sometimes the punishment was very vindictive. Like this woman who was just a simple pervert at heart.

The moral of the story is most perverts come to a bad end. Few got away with it. But some times the greater the crime the harder is was for the authorities to arrest a suspect.

ULTRA-SOCIALISM

Here was an ultra-socialist world. The world was roughly the size of Earth, but there were only 1 million people. It was the year 2288 A.D.

Here criminals lived in palaces and had robot servants like everyone else.

Girl LK-32 had murdered her lover and was constantly thinking of crime.

But the criminals had a collar around their neck that read her mind (MRT) and if she thought about crime it would send a buzzing sound to her mind until she gave it up.

So Girl LK-32, gradually stopped thinking criminal thoughts.

She was cured.

It was the triumph of the socialist system said the leaders of this world.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Thought crimes could be cured. Perhaps this was the best system of all the universe regarding crime.

The moral of the story is in some worlds there is always hope for those that had foolishly committed a crime.

A UNPRECEDENTED OLD WOMAN

She was according to urban legend the third oldest person in the universe at 285. She claimed to have seen it all and done everything that was worthwhile doing. It was the year 2400 A.D.

Over the years she garnered more and more power and was now Queen of the Moon. When people saw her they had to drop to their knees in supplication. They had statues of her in every house and people were expected to worship daily.

Mind reading technology (MRT) was used on her citizens to make sure they worshipped and loved their Queen. Those who didn't disappeared. Most people figured those who disappeared were sold off world as slaves.

The society here was basically communism. The 6 assistants of the Queen and the Queen herself were rich and everyone else was equal.

Everyone had a tiny apartment and enough food to eat. There were no drugs... And everyone had a service job to do.

They were building new apartments as there was a high birth rate and a lot of new comers who wanted to live in communism...

This state was protected by UW police, but a lot of people here chaffed at having to fit in and be equal and a lot of tourists claimed it was a reign of terror.

UW law 20-1 stated it was a crime to persecute people who were intelligent. But this law was a big joke.

But despite UW protection, one day raiders arrived and took all the people and their leaders and sold them into slavery. They weren't prize slaves except for the Queen but they made money off them and disappeared into space. Some said UW police were corrupt and turned away from the people here after receiving large bribes.

The Queen said it was the death of the common human.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

People must bow down to future powers. Most people were destined for wage slavery.

The moral is future people will never be safe from slavery or death.

SURROGATE MOTHER

She was a surrogate egg donor for men who wanted kids. Most of these men were in prominent positions. Of course the babies were still grown in the incubator...

But after birth she would seize the child and go off world and educate them how to be a successful criminal. Teach them how to disable a surveillance camera and how to clean up the crime scenes and above all to be hackers.

So far she had seized 42 such children. And they made her a fortune. And she lived happily ever after. It was the twenty-third century.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some criminals get away with it. They enjoy the adrenalin surge.

The moral of the story is some people were born into crime and there is nothing anyone can do about it, or so it seems.

SEX SLAVERY

According to UW law 72-1, sex slavery is prohibited.

Girl XM-37 kidnapped prominent people and cloned them complete with all their memories and then took a ransom for the original.

After cloning them she forced them to serve her sexually and as hackers (she trained them). She liked to have sex with men and women and they were her thralls. It was the year 2170 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Sex slavery will happen more and more.

The moral is new crimes are arising constantly but most will fail in the end.

GOLDEN STATUES

Girl JM-65 had a hoard of jewellery that she had stolen. But she melted it down and polished the diamonds etc.

She liked to make gold statues of herself and sold them as “the Freedom Fighter Series.”

But finally police received a tip from her ex-boyfriend and arrested her. This happened in the year 2667 A.D.

In court her defence was no contest. And she was sentenced to being melted down herself until there was nothing left.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some criminals have no defence. Their actions are random and evil.

The moral of the story is many future people will be obsessed with themselves and won't care about others.

JAQUETTE THE RIPPER

She, Girl Jacquette appeared sinister.

She was a modern day murderer.

She loved riff raff men and then murdered them. She loved the thrill of the kill.

And nobody cared about the riff raff.

She wanted to be like Jack the Ripper. But she wanted to kill each man in a creative, different way.

And she wrote an open letter on the net admitting that she killed 101 men. But she didn't reveal her identity. And the hacker police couldn't find her.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Justice belongs to the strong. If you are not one of the "strong" then you are a loser.

The moral of the story is copycat murders are multiform and there is going to be no end to traffic in murder.

CONSERVATIVE WORLDS

These days there were still a lot of conservatives (A.D. 2733).

Most men on world, BV-63, owned a laser rifle and a man's home was his castle.

They wanted and got the death penalty for all criminals.

Meanwhile they worshipped Jesus. It seemed like a dichotomy to outsiders.

Many agreed Jesus had come again, but couldn't agree on his identity.

But one day a man identified as the devil started getting in the heads of these people and caused them to shoot their loved ones and friends.

Most people “got the devil” from inside after having sex. People here were conservative about sex, thinking it was a sin to have many lovers.

The “Devil” was using MRT (mind reading technology) by inserting a tiny needle into the heads of lovers.

Many said God had forsaken them due to their sins and were penitent.

But UW police finally figured out who this “Devil,” was.

It was a woman and her punishment was to live in a hot room, 50C with a little water for all time with the UW police in her head. She was dead in a week having banged her head against the wall.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Many people have the devil inside. The devil is real.

The moral of the story is MRT (mind reading technology) can be used for good or for evil.

ANOTHER WHO SUDDENLY SNAPPED

There was no crime on planet BLJY-40.

But one day the leader of these domed people suddenly snapped and turned off the power and back up power. And everyone died except her. She escaped into space in an emergency pod and reached another settled world in 2 weeks.

There, they bought her story of a death ray which killed them all except her. It was the year 2565 A.D.

But she turned her mind around and didn't commit another crime and lived happily ever after.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

It was just another example of too much power in the hands of individuals. And with too much power comes genocide.

The moral of the story is crime will never cease. But you can never have enough checks and balances even though it might mean gridlock.

MORE GOLD

Everyone here had plenty of gold and the more you had the more respect and power you received.

People typically wore their gold and some were staggering under a heavy load of gold jewellery. They had gold teeth, gold hair, gold crowns, gold nails, golden clothes and golden staffs...

They even ate a lot of gold flakes and their shits were golden.

The population here on Moon 997 was 2 million (in the year A.D. 2712). And they were protected by UW police...

Here the people were ruled by Girl Gold-74, who had set up robotic mines to produce more gold. There was plenty to go around as it was a metallic planet.

Gold is life, she said.

Gold-74 though had a sinister side. She kidnapped sexy men and gave them drugged wine and when they woke up they were strapped to a board. And Gold-74 asked them questions about the modern universe and if their answers didn't suit her she'd throw a dart at them, aiming for the edges. But as the discussion typically got intense she aimed for their eyes and so they all died. No one was good enough for her.

Everyone had thought Gold-74 was a kind, nice ruler.

But UW Police called her "Gold Dart." And finally they arrested her.

People asked her why did she do it? She had no good answer. She was just born to be an infamous criminal.

After being convicted she was subjected to loud buzzing in her head due to MRT (mind reading technology). It drove her completely mad.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Gold should be a worthless metal and money should be discouraged most agreed. Some people were sick and tired of this endless pursuit of riches. Gold Dart was an example of people gone wrong, driven mad by riches.

The moral of the story is everyone has their sinister side, only some don't show it often. MRT though was the salvation of mankind or the death of it, it seemed up in the air.

The moral of the story is people are on the wrong track, believing in riches, rather than the immortal soul.

ANOTHER GENOCIDE

On Earth, A.D. 2285, Girl KLM-69 ruled and gave everyone an IQ test and the top 30% survived, the bottom 70% were annihilated.

Many people in the top 30% said it was unnecessary, but KLM-69 said it was just evolution and anyways there were no jobs for common people. Robots did all the menial tasks. And it would save the state zillions of dollars.

Everyone was afraid to be boring and uncreative. Many of the top 30% made gifts of art to K-- and tried to be the life of the party. Others did fraudulent studies e.g. in medicine, health and nutrition to stay alive.

Be all you can be said K--

But for many the pressure of further cuts was too great and they killed themselves.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Many clever people are uncharitable and only care about other clever people. The common human will be largely useless no matter what the future is.

The moral is evolution is speeding up and the clever will survive. The only question was how clever would you need to be.

DREAM MACHINES

She gave people wonderful horrors, an adrenalin surge. Being chased by monsters etc.

But after millions of years of evolution, girl BBH-909 had to choose whether the new super humans they'd created should live or not.

She decided to kill them off in their youth. It was all male aggression she said.

Bounty hunters combed the cities of Earth looking for those who had inhuman DNA... They had a special scanner that could identify altered DNA.

Girl RDAKL-978 was a super human and only 12 years old. She was one of the lucky ones, she was picked up by a visiting space ship of the Gormanian Empire.

The Gormanian Empire cloned her and created many children with her (in the incubator). And they used her as a weapons research scientist developing technology to blow up whole worlds. And she was a skilled hacker.

There was a lot of hatred between worlds for no good reason. It was just a power grab.

And she had a unique, very clever looking face. And she had orange skin and orange lips... and she was full figured as she reached 15.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Super humans are the future but the question is can they be controlled. Who knows what super humans might think of other humans.

The moral is those who control the super humans will control the universe.

THE DARK SIDE

The dark side runs deep into the mysteries of the soul. Optimism is for the innocent, the naïve. Dream machines give people the dark side. Greed and how to worship yourself. Stimuli.

Girl FIFO-09 gave her people nightmares in the night using MRT (mind reading technology). They were so intense that many people woke up screaming and shot themselves with a laser pistol. These nightmares occurred in the early 24th century.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

People on the dark side fancy themselves to be mysterious and imaginative and need to hide from society. But in the future MRT will discover everything about “the hearts of men.”

The moral is perhaps the dark side will rule in the future.

WORLD OF CRIMINALS

Here was a criminal world where everyone was a criminal. Most had off world fraudulent businesses, but it was very dangerous here on planet Galileo-16. People here would abuse you, kidnap you, rape you, rob you, torture you, enslave you and so on.

Strangely some sadomasochistic tourists came here only to be put in a cell and abused.

Girl Wonder finally began to take control with her goon army. Henceforth everyone needed to kiss her ring on their knees. It occurred in the year 2469 A.D.

There were thousands of plots against her so she bought an MRT (mind reading technology) machine to suss out potential rebellions.

One day the people revolted but she hacked them down and they were vanquished and murdered by her goons.

Henceforth the citizens all had their assets seized by Girl Wonder.

To do crimes against criminals is something the authorities on other worlds turned a blind eye to.

Under Girl Wonder gave her people little food and no web access.

Girl wonder would tranquilize the men and give them sex enhancers and then rape them.

And she would strap on a dildo to have sex with women and to sodomize men.

Prisoners rattled their chains and begged for freedom but if they made too much noise they were shot with a tranquilizer gun.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some women feel they can do no wrong and everything they do is for the benefit of humanity, even if they are criminals...

The moral of the story is many women who survive into the future will be aggressive and violent.

MORE HACKERS

Magnates treated the universe as if it was a giant video game. Casualties didn't matter. They had weapons, defences and hacker abilities. Girl TU-95, was the most skilled hacker in the world. Hackers could disable all life support systems and kill billions in worlds without an Earth-like atmosphere. She'd killed hundreds of millions and put a temporary stop to galactic colonization.

Total war such as using nuclear bombs. It was the year 2600 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

To powerful people in the future life will be just a video game to amuse them. And they will enjoy tactics of war and hacking...

The moral of the story is highly intelligent people will rule in the future, but some of those will be criminals in disguise.

THE PERFECT CRIME

The perfect crime was to make it look like an accident or a suicide.

Girl RARA-641 got away with insurance fraud. She programmed her lovers car to crash and the fiery crash scene destroyed all evidence. And the black box was missing. But investigators decided it was a suicide and Girl RARA-641 got away with it.

She used the money to buy a nice palace on another world with many human servants. After a while she got bored of being a female and switched to male and then back again. She'd looked at both sides now... This happened in the early 23rd century.

But she never did another crime, but wrote about in her memoirs which she published as she lay dying of self inflicted wounds.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

The most successful criminals only do a handful of crimes and then stop. Girl R--- was one of these criminals.

The moral is in the future no one will be safe.

BOUNTY HUNTER

Girl TIMRS-908, decided to kill all 10 of her lovers. Then she fled off to a deep space world before the murders could be discovered.

But families of the deceased hired a female assassin to get her and she finally tracked her down after a year on the run and killed Girl T--. She wasn't expecting a woman assassin. It was the year 2490 A.D.

Justice was served with her death, people said. But some scientists cloned her for experimental purposes.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Even in death, murderers can sometimes one can be of use. But the psychology of Girl T was very unstable. Unstable people are capable of anything anytime.

The moral of the story is sometimes people "snap" and go on a killing spree. You have to know the psychology of your lovers and friends.

WOMEN'S LIB AND CRIME

True crime was all about women's lib some women said. They could do any crime a man could.

Girl YUM-17 was a mass murderer on Planet COPE-88. After a 40 year jail sentence (given in A.D. 2400), she was released. She fled to another world with money she earned as a prostitute.

She appeared as a liberal philosopher on the new world. She claimed she wanted imagination in the future. But it was all a façade,

She just wanted to kill men. She hated men and she was arrested again for mass murder.

This time they sent her to a very rough prison on another world where finally she was murdered.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some women think they are superior to men. And some become totally radicalized to hate all men. Men don't expect to be murdered by a woman, so they are easily murdered. But these women don't know when to stop and are inevitably arrested/killed in the end.

The moral is hatred usually ends badly.

SECRET CRIME

In her dreams she thought of a world of peace, using MRT...

But they introduced thought crimes with MRT (mind reading technology)...

So she was condemned to rehab... As peace was not what they were looking for here. Rather they wanted everyone to be violent and evil.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

One day thought crimes will be prosecuted and no one will be confident or safe. It will be a tyranny of the soul.

The moral is if you really knew what most people were thinking you would hate them.

SEX, LIES AND LIE DETECTORS

Girl YUAR-998, would talk to men using an invisible lie detector. If they told the truth about important issues, then she would love them endlessly. But if they lied she would murder them.

Finally she got caught and she was put to a lie detector which revealed her whole life was a lie. It was the year 2398 A.D.

They sent her to a “Liar’s Prison.” Where people told pathological lies to one another. Each was convinced in the validity of their statements but they were all lies.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Too much technology in too many hands. People abuse each other with technology.

Maybe lie detectors are good and can make people more truthful and honest.

The moral of the story is some people use technology and become power-crazed and there’s no end to it until they are finally caught.

DRAGON TOWERS

In this city of towers, lovers competed with one another. And loud speakers called people to join them all day long. Some people put wax in their ears to avoid listening. But often the loudspeakers announced the dragons were being set loose so take refuge in a tower. Those who didn't listen were eaten up. And those who listened had hearing damage.

The dragons were let loose once a week and devoured a handful of humans each time. Dragons lived in the towers...

All the dragons had riders and the riders had night vision goggles.

Some said the cleverest were being eaten, but leader Girl TRY-990, said the universe was "deteriorating." And that the dragons killed the weak, making the race here strong.

Most people just slept out in the open and were sitting ducks for the dragons. People fled the scene of a dragon attack and it was every man for him self.

And people were mostly unemployed, 66% of them.

Their only use was as guinea pigs and food for the dragons

Governments here were being overthrown one after another, just like the French revolution.

Then 80% had no job. It was a wretched government. And they introduced invisible surveillance cameras to keep an eye on everyone.

Finally the towers were burned and the dragons too.

And so it became a world where no one had anything. It was the year 2677 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

When unemployment runs too high there will be revolution.

Some people are sadistic and treat others as if they were prey.

The moral is sometimes equality is best.

CULT OF THE BLOODY HAND

Members of this cult cut off their right hand, to identify themselves. And when they killed someone they cut off their hand and nailed it to the door of the deceased.

The anarchists had an estimated 10% of support here on this planet. But the socialists, who believed in the greatest good for the greatest number had about 30% support. Most people didn't follow any philosophy.

But even anarchists needed leaders.

Finally war erupted between the two factions. It was bloody and cruel. And ended up in a draw.

But one day super humans landed on this planet and put everyone to death. They figured it was a nice world, too nice for humans. Girl TROPHY-666, leader of the socialists was told that she wasn't smart enough. It was the year 2378 A.D.

But as they stood on the scaffold, some people remarked that they were so violent and cruel how could the judges be super human.

PSYCHO ANALYSIS/MORAL

People are often too busy fighting each other to realize the bigger picture. And people will never stop fighting, even if they are superhuman.

The moral of the story is the future is getting out of “hand.”

SINGING BIRDS

Girl YYZ-14, had trained a chorus of 100 women to sing and also trained them in the arts of love. Sometimes during their performances, men jumped on stage and had sex with the singers while they continued to sing (they wore togas which were easy to take off.

After seeing the performance many people sang while having sex henceforth.

She and her singers were in demand and traveled to numerous worlds. Girl Y— had to make sure that her singers didn't elope or disappear. It was the year A.D. 2502.

PSYCHO ANALYSIS/MORAL

Girl Y—was fulfilling a need for men to have something different. Novelty pays.

The moral is you can change the world with sex.

SEX AS SIN

Girl LUV-00. In her youth she was a holy terror. In her teens she was a drug dealing “mama san.” In adulthood she was the highest paid escort on her world, Bruno-88

She was a multi-billionaire.

She would tie a rope around men’s necks while they were having sex which gave the men wild orgasms. But sometimes they passed out and even died. But it was all consensual as the surveillance cameras showed.

But they deported her anyway.

Her new planet was a no-sex society. Sex was sinful and evil. They had test tube babies.

Trying to make the best of a bad situation, Girl L--, seduced three of the men here. But everyone found out about it so she was deported again.

Her next world she had sex with the men, all 1000 of them and gained all the money they had.

All agreed sex with her was the best. So they cloned her and she taught women how to be good in bed.

Even some older (yet youthful) men rekindled their interest in sex.

Girl L--, set herself up as Queen and choreographed “orgy plays.”

They recited poetry and their lines while making love.

And they copulated to a drum and bass beat.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Girl J--- was a nymphomaniac, but many people are pleased to meet such a woman. Sex is power.

The moral is the more you travel the more likely you are to find a place where you fit in.

CREATIVE CRIMINAL

Girl RDCL-104 called herself a “creative criminal” as she was always finding ways to cheat, especially in video reality. Video reality required everyone to play a loose role and it was all real. Notably WW III killed billions and some wanted to play it again.

Really the video reality was just a different setting than “real ones” and everyone played a role. She was born in the year 2321 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

People of the future will be obsessed with video reality... And want to play dangerous games...

The moral is people of the future will live for adrenalin kicks, the better the feeling, the better it will be.

SEX AS CURRENCY

Here the currency was sex. Each sex act resulted in one credit for each of the participants. The richest was girl EX-76 who had assets worth 50 000 credits, notably in her luxurious house.

People mostly used their credits to buy real estate, an air car and drugs (stimulants). Also beach vacations on the sunny beaches of the south of this world.

Tourists came and shared their credits and enjoyed the love making.

Few people tired of this world but if they did 10 000 credits could get them to nearby settled planets.

But Girl DOG-75 went to men's homes and after loving them broke everything that could be broken and even assaulted the men with a broken pot or bottle. And she refused to take credits for her love making. And she walked around naked.

Finally Girl D---, was deported.

She was deported to a simple hunter-gatherer world and everyone walked around naked and sex was no big deal.

She proclaimed herself Queen and was happy. If people didn't swear fealty to her then they would be killed in cruel ways.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

In the future sex will always have value. Those who were the sexiest will profit the most.

The moral of the story is sex is a big deal for some, but for others largely useless.

FRANCINE

Francine didn't believe in long term commitments so she broke up couples whenever she could. She lived in Hollywood which still made movies and flirted with the stars.

Anyways she'd stepped on too many toes. And so they deported her. She was deported to a world where women were mere chattels and were abused in every way.

She started a rebellion of women, many of who were desperate to escape this miserable life.

She broke into the armory and armed thousands of women over night. The men were shocked and surprised.

The women took over, but Francine was assassinated. Henceforth Girl N--- and Girl Z--- ruled and men were treated as assets and were bought and sold.

The two leaders made sure that all 10 000 men here licked their pussy and kowtowed to them.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Sooner or later women will take control of the universe. They are better at handling people. Many men underestimate the potential of women...

The moral is if you are a shit disturber, the law will come down hard on you...

SUICIDE BOMBER

Girl PEEON-990, took manual control of her air car and mowed down thousands of pedestrians. She did this several times but finally police were tailing her so she crashed her air car into the local government building and set it on fire.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some people turn suicidal and don't care who they hurt. Some said regular MRT (mind reading technology) could prevent such tragedies. But the people didn't want it. They didn't want their minds probed. Everyone had things about their past that they wanted hidden. So the spies did it in secret and drove people crazy.

The moral is without MRT, people are hopeless. But with it they are also hopeless.

BANKING ROBOTS

She began her life as a pickpocket in a country which used cash due to computer credit fraud. It was a new world though, World Clarke-15.

And she discovered that most people hid their money in their robots, which would put up a challenge if attacked. So she'd break into people's houses and shot the robots to death and relieved them of their money.

These crimes occurred in the 25th century.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Robots will be faithful servants at first, but as they grow cleverer they will take on a life of their own.

The moral of the story is the future banks will all be bankrupted by hackers and it is best to invest in real gold, where you take the gold bars to your robots. Robots will feel important therefore.

THE NEW FEMININE

“The New Feminine” by Girl AWP-20 stated that girls should be as sexy as possible and as tough as possible in order to scare men. Be emotional sometimes, other times be logical. She said women want a more refined masculinity, not just machismo. And she named famous men who were wimps in her “Wimp List.” And also her “Beast list.”

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Women of the future will all be tough, especially the most sexy of them. And they will identify men who don't come up to par...

Men will be like circus performers who must dance to the women's tune...

The moral of the story is it is all a theater of women, and men are just performers and portrayers...

OLD CRONE

She refused to take eternal youth medicine and was now 90 and looked like and old witch.

She said there's nothing wrong with growing old. She lived in the 24th century.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some people refuse to deal with the future which is coming on fast and stick to their life-long beliefs. But even if they are handed a gem like eternal youth, many people won't take it.

The moral is play the hand you are dealt, and deal with issues as they affect you.

FEMININE MONOPOLY

Girl LEFT-133 had a universal monopoly on tampons. She used high tech fibers that were computer controlled. And bought out other companies. It was common to have monopolies in this universe. Some people were just too rich, here in the year 2700 A.D.

Total inter-galactic population was 25 billion with 14 billion on Earth. The birth rate on Earth though had been dropping for some time. But people lived eternally youthful. It was kind of surprising to some that humans had lasted that long.

As spaceships got faster so too peoples' fortunes grew through trade.

Girl L---'s crime was to force people to buy tampons and anyone who tried to sell them themselves were eliminated. Let no one interfere with our business she was heard to say.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

These days everyone wants more control, more power...

There are too many powerful people these days.

The moral of the story is don't believe that money will not be paramount in the future.

SMUGGLER

Girl NONAME-99 and her rock band played prisons and smuggled in super heroin, which was so concentrated as to be almost invisible. It was the year A.D. 2150.

And her band brought super heroin across borders. All borders were now open on Earth.

It was very hard to detect.

But finally the authorities started giving blood tests to travelers. But the travelers used new technology to cover up the super heroin in their blood.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Many people were born to break the law and the rules and many of them were highly clever. They could see the law for what it was: an intention to keep the rich, rich and the poor, poorer.

The moral is illicit drugs will never be stopped. There will always be many who wish to take them and "feel good." Even if they are dangerous.

HIGH TECH THIEF

Her crime was the theft of the English crown jewels. And also famous art pieces from art galleries.

She used the new art of invisibility to steal these brilliant pieces.

The art of invisibility was invented in 2735 A.D., but by 2737 cameras could identify “invisible thieves.”

It was still a fact that originals could be verified.

She sold them to an illicit, but rich magnate who sold them in secret for big money.

And she was changing her technique with her super hackers who were one step ahead of the authorities and kept bringing in brilliant new pieces.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

There will always be professional thieves who find new ways to steal things. The only defence is to have the best hackers and pay them a fortune.

In this era few people cared about original artwork. Facsimiles were fine. But it was important to artists to be paid for their work. And that included writers, movie makers, sculptors and painters.

The moral is the future will have more sophisticated criminals than in our day.

INVISIBLE BOMBS

Girl XLUV-76, she bought invisible, but powerful bombs and they could be carried by robotic flies. Finally authorities determined her whereabouts somehow, but when they moved to make the arrest she disappeared in a puff of smoke.

And she engineered jail breaks of her hackers with the tiny bombs and picked them up in an air car amidst the flames.

After that prisoner visits were not allowed in the prisons. Girl X—said the prisons were cruel and not interested in rehabilitating the prisoners. She threatened more bombs if the system didn't improve. But they dug in their heels so she bombed prisons again and again and inmates simply ran out.

And she retired from terrorism having killed thousands of people and saving many from prison. It was the year 2558 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Sooner or later most crooks get caught. But some suddenly stop their life of crime and behave like everyone else.

The moral is it will be easy for future terrorists to cause mass destruction.

THE BATTLE OF THE SEXES

And so it was there was a war between men and women for control of planet Vance-18.

Girl ILOVALL-66 was the one who killed the wounded after battles.

But finally the men won and she was charged with crimes against humanity...

She of course said she was just following orders. But mind reading technology (MRT) revealed she hated men and wanted to kill them all.

The court sentenced her to paralysis from the neck down and no computer access of any kind. There was no death penalty on Vance-18.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some women hate men, that's just the way it is. But these days there was a lot of tension between the sexes, and it could often be a power grab, war between the sexes.

The moral is women of the future will continue to fight for more rights, just like any other group.

LONELY GIRL

Lonely Girl POETPOE-87 had been marooned on a conservative world where people still believed in marriage. She'd been marooned as she was a nymphomaniac with a sharp tongue. Those on her former space ship were glad to get rid of her. And they all laughed at her fate.

So she had sex with male mannequins with a dildo attached... And she confronted men in restaurants offering them free sex. But no one took her up on her offer.

So she came to hate other people here and they hated her.

But finally bodies started showing up in the river. Many suspected she had done it, but she was slight of build and shorter than average. They couldn't prove anything, but deported her all the same.

This was bad for Girl P---, where she was forced to work as a slave on a farm. In this world the rich lived in palaces served by robots. The slaves labored to kill time between the next war would involve only peasant combatants.

She wondered how could her world come to this?

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some people will be very unhappy in the future. But future societies will be built around progress and materialism, not human rights. The UW police simply won't have the power to do anything about it, even on planets and moons that it "controlled."

The moral is hard crimes deserve harsh punishment, but sometimes there are mitigating circumstances.

SOUL STEALER

It was so hard for a woman to reach the top. There was still a glass ceiling. But she, Girl RUT-61 reached the position of CEO of the number two company.

But she stole people's souls and left them a withered husk. She zapped one's energy and life force, with a touch of her wand. And got ecstasy by doing so.

But she was the leader and she kept people busy working 80+ hours per week at inane tasks. Her company was totally automated.

She was into the beautiful people, clones of famous people, and she trained her hackers to acquire beauty for her. She was bisexual.

But here on Mars, people wanted to keep it for the humans. But the super humans wanted control of it. She tried to destroy super humans whenever she could. But finally they killed her, assassinated her. It was the year 2579 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

It is imperative for leaders to keep the people busy. Idle hands... And Girl R—was thoroughly evil.

The moral of the story is you cannot defeat super humans, unless you too are a super genius.

CLONES

Girl PRY-04; she used stolen DNA (hairs etc.) to clone famous people. She educated them to love her and gave them all her memories. She trained them to be hackers, beautiful hackers.

All computers had faults, and her hackers tried to destroy as many computers as possible. People needed to go back in time, she said. Back to 1976... But it was the year 2650 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

There will always be those Luddites who want to go back in time. But progress will never stop. Progress is our God now.

The moral is beautiful people make the best hackers. They can seduce others virtually.

AN END TO RELIGION ON EARTH

Girl ZJANTHROPUS-02, she was very argumentative. She said if there was no God life would have no meaning. She hated the largely Godless societies that existed. She said throughout human history everyone worshipped Gods or Goddesses. Only in this modern era was it different. So she led 6% of the human population into space (all religious), leaving Earth just 4% religious (but 55% of the populace believed in aliens).

But her enemy was girl UFRATES-44...

Girl U---, organized a genocide of the remaining 4% of religious people.

But now people fought over whether aliens existed or not, and had a large war which ended in the defeat of the alien worshippers. Henceforth no one could believe in any higher power on Earth, or face the death penalty...It was the year 2641 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Religion is destined to die out sooner or later. But people need to believe in something whether it be aliens or whether it be progress. If you take away all their beliefs you will have chaos and amoral behavior.

The moral of the story is most people of the future won't care about morals.

DANCING WORLD

People had jet packs which left a swirl of colors behind them. They danced in the air and were very acrobatic.

But 30% of the people here were against dancing altogether. As time went by war between the non-dancers and the dancers erupted. Girl XX-NO had dancing forces were against Girl HTON-32's non-dancing forces.

The war was fought with sharpened sticks and jet packs. The forces of Girl H-- proved victorious and made a law banning dancing. Girl X---, (who survived the war), said it was a crime against humanity. It was the year 2667 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

People will fight about almost anything just like always. And a lot of people are bossy and want to tell others how to live.

The moral is make sure you live in an easygoing world protected by UW police.

SHE WANTED TO BE A LION HEAD

Spy girl PO-41's assignment was to take on the lion emperor. He had the head of a lion with a human brain inside and his vocal chords allowed him to speak in the common tongue.

He was called, "Code Sphinx." And it was the year 2532 A.D.

His plan was to turn everyone into a lion head.

But PO-41 changed into a lion head. And worked as an assistant to the lion man. How could their spies turn into lion heads people wondered?

In becoming a lion head, Girl PO-41, broke UW law 60-1 which stated no human can change their appearance to something other than a human being.

But the law was largely ignored and the worlds were becoming freak shows.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

For sure the world is becoming a freak show, but humans are very adaptable. Why anyone would be a lion head is anybody's guess?

The moral of the story is there's no stopping people from perversity of all kinds. Who knows what lurks in the hearts of mankind?

CHEATER

Spy girl BO-70 was skilled in martial arts and was a spy for Empire Translucent. She had a "special face"

She cheated famous politicians in video games, bankrupting them, and forcing them to embezzle the government for money and then blackmailing them to give her still more money. She loved corruption.

She bought a large space cruiser with her fortune. The plan was for ½ clones who were her DNA mixed with the DNA of the important men she swindled...

The voyage was 10 years into deep space during which time she educated her ½ clones...

50 years later... It was the year 2620 A.D.

She was now Queen of a civilization that stretched to 25 planets. Many of the planets were rich in gold and paid for the latest weapons and of course she had the hackers who were top notch.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

People will do crazy things for love even endangering themselves and their identity.

The moral of the story is don't trust anyone to hypnotise you or give them a chance to steal your identity. There were many pitfalls; one had to be constantly on guard.

NYMPHOMANIA

Girl MM-88 was a tyrant who killed her subjects at random. Everyone was paranoid that they would be next.

Girl MM-88 tried to make everyone miserable. She herself was a failed scientist who thought the powers that be conspired against her.

Great female tyrants of the past such as Catherine the Great, Cleopatra, the Tang Chinese dynasty Empress and so on always had limited power. But Girl MM-88 had absolute power. She slaughtered her enemies. Rivers of her capital were red with blood...

Brains were considered a delicacy and good for you.

And she had a collection of nymphomaniacs... They had sex about 25 times a day and had magic lotion to keep her skin soft and supple. It was considered essential to have sex with one of her well-trained women as part of any tourist's desire.

The only problem was people were dying like flies from overdosing on new heroin. New heroin allowed men to be potent all the time, not like regular heroin.

Girl MM-88 was herself a nymphomaniac and she liked to do it with a different man each time. She'd loved hundreds of thousands (no sexual disease).

She was so wild and crazy that she scared men. Men were afraid she'd break their dick. She'd demand to love men in public right then and there.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Nymphomaniacs are more common than most people assume. And total power will just lead to madness.

The moral is you had better avoid nymphomaniacs or men with a very high sex drive as these people will never be satisfied.

STOLEN AIR CARS AGAIN

She gathered code information with men when they were in a drunken stupor. And copied their fingerprints and irises and DNA...

She brought the stolen air cars to a shady second hand dealer. He repainted the cars and took out the jewels etc.

And she had stolen men's identity to get more credits

The hair graves. These were tombstones which dispensed DNA of the deceased. For half a million dollars you could get a DNA hair with a root for ID purposes... And copy famous people. It was very lucrative...

People paid secret ransom to get it back, but Girl MON-44 took their money and disappeared.

She used the money to build an army on this world, Vance-213...

Some people here got inside other's minds and drove them crazy. Her army could launch mental attacks.

Most people here believed in aliens and Girl MON-44 encouraged this belief as it freed her to do what she wanted with these people...

She put different brains in different bodies...

She was totally insane. It was the year 2485 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Mind attacks are the way of the future... Such torture...

The moral is don't let hostile people into your mind. Buy a protective helm or move to another planet.

PERFECT WOMAN

She was the "perfect woman." As she passed by the adoring crowds. People went down on their knees for her... This was planet A6-41, A.D. 2439.

She'd had a lot of work done on her body to be so perfect. But her voice was beguiling and so too her personality. And she never thought an evil thought according to lie detectors, though it was known that people could be hypnotised to fool a lie detector.

Here men were chattels and were bought and sold. And she bought some men. Some pointed out that a perfect woman would not buy slaves. But she said, "It is all relative." So then private investigator RE-12, looked into her past and found that she was a former illegal drug dealer and was a suspect in the murder of a number of people on Planet A6-99. So they MRT'd (used mind reading technology) on her and found she was guilty of the murders. Her former planet didn't allow MRT...

Of course she had to step down and was put on trial. Many people heaped dirt and accusations at her. Others were in shock.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS

Nobody's perfect. But some want their friends and lovers to be perfect. People want a perfect friend as someone to look up to. But usually they are disappointed. And cut off any further communication with friends and lovers.

The moral is any woman can be your perfect woman, but beware letting them take your personality and enslave you.

PET PHANES

She was the last survivor of Planet Ell-69. She claimed she'd amassed a host of phanes, which were beautiful, sensitive and delicate things that looked vaguely human...

She'd stolen the phane pets of the inhabitants here. People abused their pets sexually and physically. They only cared for phanes here...

But she was not open to ransoms for the phanes., the beautiful things.. It was the year 2545 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

In this perverse world, people wanted exotic pets even abuse such pets.

Phanes were just a few among billions of "pets" that were enslaved.

The moral is most people are perverted these days and are looking to score with someone different, even a phane.

A DISGUSTED GHOST

She was a ghost. She hadn't planned on it, but when her boss Girl TO-77 died she turned into a ghost condemned to haunt the grave.

At first she pleaded with tourists to kill her, but finally she resolved to terrorize tourists and many enjoyed it and it was mentioned in "The Book of Worlds" as a must see attraction.

No one could explain it, but it seemed there was a crime committed here somehow. It was the year 2531 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

In the future many will be changed into ghosts or spirits and go to heaven or hell. Even if you are a ghost you need to make the best of it.

The moral is souls are alive and omnipresent. But maybe it is not such a good idea to go to hell or haunt a graveyard.

CINDERELLA STORY

She was just a waster, but in her server job in a restaurant she met a big wig who was keeping a low profile.

He said he would take her away to paradise but the condition was she had to learn how to hack into other's computer systems.

She learned how to swindle trillions of credits...

But one day her boss was busted by police. She grabbed many trillions of credits in her account and escaped off world.

She went on a ten year voyage to a very remote region of space. If any unauthorized space ship drew near she would hack its system and burn the engines leaving the ships to drift in space.

Everyone who lived in this remote planet learned how to hack and steal credits from other worlds. It happened in the early 25th century.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Hackers will rule the future. The power of your mind will be the deciding factor. Most hackers consider hacking to be a great challenge and don't care who gets hurt.

The moral is for some, if you see an opportunity, take it. For others most "opportunity" was evil.

TIME STEALER

Girl JR-68 was in charge of time on planet Cop-17. People were confused about time as there were 3 suns in the sky. But it was revealed that she had set the clocks forwards minute by minute until it was a full 2 hours ahead. People had cyborg clocks on their video screens but for a long time didn't notice the missing time.

Her punishment was solitary confinement without any time notification. She stayed there 5 years, but thought it was 7. It was now the year 2619 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

People of the future will be confused about time. Time will move in its own way. But it is a great crime to steal or add to time. It is too powerful... Girl J—was drunk on power.

The moral of the story is don't lose track of time.

MRT

Girl OH-66, swore she would eliminate MRT (mind reading technology). She developed protective helmets and issued them to everyone. She was known to have said, the worst thing that can happen is to lose control of your mind or have people inside your mind.

But the minority said we are one with the Earth. We were all in this together.

But she was charged with “thwarting the government in their attempts at governing.”

Her punishment was to be a simple maid to a powerful woman and eat humble pie. It was the year 2265 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

MRT is a double-edged sword...

Whether they will go for MRT, or not... It should still be a virtually unanimous decision.

The moral is one must always worry about the powers that be. There is no paradise for most.

JERK WOMAN

Girl YYOU-77 was a real jerk. No one on planet VOY-74 liked her. In hindsight it was a recipe for disaster to isolate someone like that.

One day she broke into the armory using her code-breaker skills and stole a laser rifle. She then went to the town center and started shooting from a bell tower. She killed thousands before surrendering to police.

Her punishment was to be slow-cooked over hot coals. It took a day for her to die and the authorities put her corpse in with the food machine so that everyone had to eat a little of her. Since the authorities figured all were to blame.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

In the optimum world, everyone would use MRT (mind reading technology) to love and be part of the whole. But in practice people defended against MRT with their helmets and led a life of crime and madness.

The moral is it was just another mad woman doing mad things to suit her every whim.

SUICIDE BOMBERS

Some said there was no need of suicide bombers as many terrorists groups had nuclear weapons with a range of many kilometers.

So most leaders went into hiding, but Girl YU-66 hacked into their computers and one by one blew up bunkers.

There was a big manhunt looking for the perpetrator of these crimes, but they couldn't figure out who it was. Finally they traced it to a local bakery where she worked.

On the scaffold she pleaded for mercy but the angry crowd surged forward and tore her apart and then did the same to the hangman. And then the crowd devoured them. It was the year 2314 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

In the future there will be too much power and weapons and everyone will be on the run.

The moral is people will never stop fighting and if they can acquire dangerous weapons, they will.

BORN RICH

Girl ARK-59 was born rich and upon turning 20 she bribed all the male politicians with sex and money. Eventually they elevated her to the position of Queen, which was largely a figure head position, but she seized more and more power.

Finally she was in total control and she dictated that everyone must do at least one serious crime per year... no punishment for the crime.

So she had turned world Cooksville, into a crime planet and everyone was paranoid. After all most crimes were perpetrated by those who were closest to you. People didn't know who to trust.

Everyone had to wear her black and yellow livery (She was the Queen)

Some said it was anarchy. And it was the year 2565 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Women have learned from men how to be a tyrant. It is like a disease. In the case of ARK-59 she was ruthless, more ruthless than others and cleverer than others. It seemed like she would be Queen forever.

The moral is when insane people take power, all hell breaks loose.

MEANING OF LIFE

She wondered what this world was about. But she finally figured out it was all about money. The rich kept getting richer... Some said the rich would never be satisfied.

But the poor were not like the poor of olden times. They all had a small apartment, drugs, food and computers and entertainment.

However the rich had palaces and air cars, travel to space, better drugs and better food and better entertainment (virtual reality).

But the poor kept whining about what they didn't have and they too were never satisfied.

So she started at the bottom of a new fantasy company that would give people their wildest dreams. She was in charge of nightmares and did such a good job she was promoted again and again, until finally she was CEO. She indulged in every luxury...

But they asked her what was her own nightmare and she said it was being poor. The next day she awoke with no memories in a small hut in the wilderness and she soon died of the cold. No one cared about her, it was dog eat dog. It was the year 2500 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

The future will be cruel to some and you had to be careful what you wished for.

The moral is you won't be able to trust anyone in the future. Families will break down and friends will all be fair-weather friends.

PRANKSTER

Girl RTG-13 was a prankster and did tricks like turn the water pink and the air pink in color. And she filmed all her conversations and posted the episodes on the Internet. She got people drunk and got them to say things which were outrageous...

A lot of people were disturbed by her and she was finally arrested. Her punishment was to live in a room cut off from computer access. These days such a punishment was equivalent of a death sentence. And sure enough she hung herself... (There were plenty of ways to hang oneself here). It was the year 2213 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Life is not a joke, but rather quite serious and anyone who interferes with the peoples' happiness is often doomed to die cruelly.

Some people had criminal minds, and were always looking to cheat the system.

The morals are don't bite off more than you can chew. And don't be too outside the box. Work within it...

ANOTHER WHISTLEBLOWER

Girl UTOP-88 was a whistleblower. She pointed out to the UW that slavery here on planet Queer was out of hand and cruel.

They were turned into beasts, not even human and cruelly assaulted and raped one another. It seemed a hopeless situation.

According to UW law, which had jurisdiction here, slavery was intolerable.

So the UW police sent a fleet of space craft to planet Queer to free the slaves. It was the year 2569 A.D.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

In the future some will be reduced to acting like animals, most basic primal urges...

The moral is there will always be slaves and pain.

MECHANICAL SHARKS

She, Girl TR-09 made a number of mechanical sharks who were programmed to rip apart humans. She set them loose all over the world so in that year it went from 30 shark deaths to 15 000. Everyone was afraid to go into the water. But finally they captured a mechanical shark and eventually figured out it was TR-09. It was the year 2357 A.D.

So they put her and her scientists in a shark tank and she was eaten alive. But it took a long time to find all the mechanical sharks that they had created.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some people can only think of blood and gore. Just one more reason to instate MRT (mind reading technology).

The moral is if you rock the boat expect to be punished in the end.

BRAIN ALTERATION

Dr. YO-88 illegally convinced people to change their brains. She wanted to change them to be “bad.” She was a real bad ass.

This was contrary to UW law 13-1 which stated no brain alteration was to be done to anyone.

Some said it was like changing into another person. Others said it was like growing up. But crime increased on this planet and no one knew why. Finally UW detectives were called in and arrested Dr. Yo--. For punishment he was sentenced to the Chinese water torture for as long as he lived.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

In the future people will want to improve their brains but it is a tricky subject. Will future people have control of the brain changes? Likely not. Probably they will all be hypnotised and MRT'd (mind reading technology) and then undergo brain surgery. Some wanted to be good, but perhaps the treatment was turning them into bad people. They would be taken advantage of by the powers that be.

The moral is don't change your brain no matter what.

INVISIBLE POISONS

EQ-12: On Earth, A.D. 2150, her air car spread invisible poisons as it flew by causing countless thousands to get cancer within a couple of days. Most were cured but for some it was against their religion or they were just plain too stubborn to take the cure.

Finally they determined it was she, Girl EQ-12 who was the perpetrator of these crimes. So they gave her lung cancer and locked her in a fire-proof rubber room with cartons of cigarettes.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS/MORAL

Some people believed in a poisonous world. And they were demons. No hope for them psychologically. But Girl E--, figured there were too many people and she was doing the world a favor.

The moral of the story is some people are evil and must have their brains changed.

THE END

In the end there were many outrageous crimes committed by women. Most of them were never discovered.

But women of the future will be tough and strong and sex relationships will be like a battleground.
